Jordan City Falls to Syrians

By United Press International

Israeli military sources said today in Tel Aviv that Syria had intervened in Jordan on behalf of the Palestinian guerrillas and sent tank columns 14 miles into the country to capture the town of Irbid in a move that drastically altered the military situation.

The respected Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth openly speculated that the United States would send paratroops to Jordan if King Hussein asked, but in his first broadcast to the nation since civil war with Palestine guerrillas broke out Thursday Hussein merely appealed to Syrian troops not to fight Jordanians.

King Hussein of Jordan ordered his army in Amman today to cease firing in the Jordanian civil war and demanded "absolute and strict observance." The cease-fire order was issued after he accused the Syrian army of invading Jordan.

With the situation worsening by the hour the Pentagon disclosed in Washington it had alerted American armed forces in the United States and Europe for possible evacuation of American citizens from Jordan where the army and Palestinian guerrillas have fought a civil war since Thursday.

Syria has denied that its troops have invaded Jordan, but the Israeli military reports tended to be borne out by guerrilla broadcasts over Baghdad radio which said the guerrillas held vast areas of northern Jordan and were using Irbid as a base.

Its capture also increased the possibility of Israel intervention in the Jordanian civil war. Israel has said it would act if its security were threatened, and capture of Irbid would mean Syria had outflanked the Israeli-held Golan Heights and was only 18 miles from the border.

The Egyptian government announced it had called an emergency Arab summit conference in Cairo Tuesday to deal with the worsening crisis and said King Hussein and guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat would attend.

Britain joined the United States today in appealing to Russia to use its influence with Syria to end the invasion, but diplomatic sources in London said the Kremlin's influence with the ruling Baath party in Damascus was virtually nil despite quantities of military supplies provided Syria by the Russians.

Hussein, in a broadcast over official Amman radio, said, "I am sure that the Syrian army will refuse to pander to the desires of the rulers in Damascus—its executioners and the executioners of the Syrian people."

"I am confident that the Syrian army will insist on joining hands with its brothers and comrades in arms, the men of the Jordanian armed forces, and unify their march along the road of victory and liberation."

There was no sign his appeal had any effect. Israeli military correspondents reported from Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee that they could hear the sound of artillery across the cease-fire line and said Syrian artillery barrages had preceded the strike by the armored columns. Irbid long was a sleepy mountain town surrounded by olive groves and wheat fields with a population of about 7,000. In recent years thousands of Palestinian refugees have flooded in, and it is the headquarters of the 12,000 Iraqi troops in Jordan.

There was no indication Damascus—its executioners and whether the Iraqi troops, mostly artillerymen used to shell Israeli villages, were taking part in the fighting. The Syrian army will insist on guerrillas have appealed for Iraqi help and Baghdad radio said the guerrillas.

Reports from Amman through diplomatic channels indicated the army was more or less in control there, still fighting small bands of guerrilla holdouts. But there was no word on the fate of the 54 airline hijack victims held in the Amman area by the guerrillas.

The death toll was not known but it was high—Egyptian newspapers said as many as 6,000 already had died in the Amman area. The semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram quoted Arafat as saying the streets were littered with thousands of corpses.

Because of the danger to the 400 or more American citizens in Jordan units of the U.S. 6th Fleet have been moved in closer to the war zone. Last week the Pentagon ordered the Atlantic Fleet helicopter carrier Guam with 1,500 more Marines to join the 1,500 Marines already there aboard the carrier Independence.

Yedioth Aharonoth, quoting senior observers in Israel, said U.S. intervention might be imminent. It said U.S. 6th Fleet ships including an aircraft carrier were steaming just off the Lebanese coast and that U.S. bases in Turkey were on the alert.

U.S. military sources in West Germany said Sunday night the U.S. Army in West Germany was making "necessary preparations as a precautionary move against the possible necessity for evacuating American citizens from Jordan."

With the situation somewhat eased in Amman, the army briefly lifted the curfew on the seven areas of the city so citizens could restock on water and food. British diplomatic sources said some firing was heard in Amman this morning, especially toward the southern end of the city.

U.S. Appeals to Stop Broadening of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reported Syrian intervention in the Jordanian civil war appears to increase the possibility of direct U.S. involvement in the conflict. But U.S. officials hope urgent appeals to Russia, Syria and other nations will avert broadened fighting.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers condemned the alleged invasion Sunday as "irresponsible and imprudent" and warned: "This action carries with it the danger of a broadened conflict."

"We call upon the Syrian government to end immediately this intervention in Jordan," he said, "and we urge all other concerned governments to impress upon the government of Syria the necessity of withdrawing the forces which have invaded Jordan."

The Nixon administration's initial reaction took the form of the Rogers denunciation and warning and a direct request to the Soviet government, plus diplomatic appeals to other governments, to put pressure on Syria to end its intervention.

The appeal to Moscow was made through the ranking Soviet diplomat here, Minister-Counselor Yuly M. Vorontsov.

Russia is Syria's major arms supplier and U.S. officials assume Moscow can exert considerable influence in Damascus. In a sense, the publicized U.S. appeal was a challenge to demonstrate what it is willing to do to curb the peril of spreading conflict in the Middle East.

The official and public position of the Nixon administration has been one of concern for more than 400 Americans, including 38 out of 54 hostages held by the Palestinian guerrillas, with the possibility that force would be used if it was judged necessary to evacuate them.

However, unofficial reports from Chicago last Friday, following briefings of editors there by President Nixon, described Nixon as being prepared to intervene forcibly in Jordan if he thought such action was required to save the government of King Hussein and keep the guerrillas from taking over.

One possibility foreseen in the Chicago report was that Nixon might decide to act if Syria or Iraq entered the Jordanian civil war in support of the guerrillas.

The United States has powerful naval forces including aircraft carriers in the Eastern Mediterranean and late last week, Nixon ordered the 6th Fleet there reinforced by units from the Atlantic fleet.

His move was described officially by the Pentagon as a "precautionary step" related to the possibility that Americans might have to be evacuated from Jordan.

The State Department did not say what other countries in addition to Russia were being asked to join in putting pressure on Syria, but Rogers' public statement constituted the kind of appeal which U.S. ambassadors in friendly capitals all over the world would normally bring promptly to the attention of the foreign offices.

In New York, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, saying "we can't negotiate with revolvers pointing at our heads," vowed Sunday Israel would refuse to return to the Mideast peace talks until Soviet-built missiles were removed from the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal cease-fire line.

"This is the reason we cannot continue these talks," she said.

In Washington earlier, Mrs. Meir said, "we are being threatened physically by the Egyptians and the Russians with the missiles they have introduced and are introducing every hour into the area. I don't think we have a fair chance at all."

Asserting that if Israel does not fight "for our freedom and safety, nobody else will," she said her nation needs help from the United States. "I would like to say I am convinced—maybe I should say I am convinced—that we will get it."

The 72-year-old premier spelled out Israel's position on the last day of a five day U.S. tour which included meetings Friday with President Nixon and State Department officials.

Woodstock's Big Deep — A Protest and 10 Arrested

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK A year and a half after it was closed to the public and posted against trespassing, Woodstock's "Big Deep" swimming hole became the scene of a civil disobedience demonstration.

Controversy over the closing of the Deep has surfaced on several occasions since the Town Board took measures to place it off limits in the spring of 1969. The board acted on the recommendation of Chief Constable William Waterous, who voiced concern that his department was unable to adequately patrol the town-owned recreational site where he said nude swimming and drugs were becoming a problem.

Last Saturday afternoon, 31

Woodstock residents, convinced that direct action was needed to publicize the continuing friction centering around the Deep, filed through the woods to the rockbound poolside for a legally unsanctioned swim-picnic party. It was the first mass civil disobedience confrontation between local residents and law enforcement authorities in the art colony since the 1920's.

Saturday's action had its counterpart some 40 years ago when dozens of Woodstockers went swimming in the Sawkill Creek as a test case against the posting of land along the creek by the Kingston Water Board.

Saturday's swim party resulted in the arrest of 10 of the 31 protestors. The group had been on the premises for more than two hours before Constables William Waterous and Warren Graver arrived on the scene. Several of those present said the arresting officers gave them five minutes to leave before arrests were made.

The majority of the group, some of them teenagers and others mothers of small children, were persuaded not to allow themselves to be arrested and left quietly. Eleven, one of them a 14-year-old boy who was not booked, remained and submitted to arrest.

During arraignment later in the office of Town Justice James Myers, several of the 10 booked said they "welcomed" their arrest as a means of focusing attention on what they consider the unconstitutionality of Woodstock's Trespass Ordinance, and the need to reopen the Deep as a properly maintained recreational site.

If their intention had been to test the town ordinance, they were thwarted in their efforts. None of the 10 was charged with breaking town law; were instead charged with breaking the State Criminal Law governing trespass.

The 10 were unanimous in their assertions that it had been made clear by the arresting officers on Deep property that they were being arrested in violation of the town ordinance. But attorney Gerald Wapner, who arranged bail for the group, said Justice Myers had advised him that "where there is a choice between two laws, authorities elect to use the State law."

Those arrested and charged ranged in age from 18 to 53; included Maury Colow, Natalie Verman, Francis Fletcher, Carol Berge, Margaret Stanley, Bradford Winston, Robert Perillat, Benita Lane, Thomas Granai and Samuel Shirah.

Attorney Wapner said no pleas were entered by any of the 10 at the Saturday arraignment, but each was held in $25 bail. Bail was paid by the Woodstock Bail Fund, a community organization formed earlier for just such a purpose. Those arrested will appear before Justice Myers on Sept. 29, when pleas of innocent or guilty will be entered.

Rule Out Referendum on Fluoridation

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON The Kingston Common Council will meet the fluoridation controversy headon, The Freeman learned today.

Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) chairman of the Council's Laws and Rules Committee, said that he will recommend to his committee that a 1952 resolution that would have required a public referendum on fluoridation be rescinded.

"We are the elected officials,"

Quick told The Freeman. "I feel it is our responsibility to act on issues, not pass them to the public."

Before the Council takes any action, Quick said, his committee will sponsor "at least two" public meetings on fluoridation in the council chambers at city hall.

Quick said he plans the meetings in October. "We want to hear both sides," he said. The 1952 resolution Quick speaks of was brought to light at the August meeting of the Common Council shortly after the aldermen received a letter from Dr. William J. Taylor, county health commissioner, recommending the fluoridation of the city's water supply.

Alderman John P. Heitzman (D-First Ward) a member of the Quick's Laws and Rules Committee, cited the resolution which would have required a public referendum with the signatures of 10 per cent of those persons voting in the last gubernatorial election.

The responsibility for approval or disapproval of fluoridation has swung from the Common Council in 1952 to the Kingston Water Board 10 years later and now, apparently, back to the Common Council. The Water Board, in 1962, held numerous hearings with both sides, the Pure Water Committee and various groups headed by Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, a Main Street dentist.

The Water Board took no action in 1962 and the controversy died down until Dr. Taylor's letter in August. While Dr. Sachs conducted numerous public informational meetings on fluoridation in 1962, Dr. Taylor told The Freeman that he will confine his efforts to public officials, that is, the aldermen.

Opponents of fluoridation in claim that it is a poison, that it has not been thoroughly tested and that it can cause other diseases. They also charge that adding fluoride to the water supply is a form of mass medication and is unconstitutional. Some opponents charge that fluoridation is a steady encroachment of communist plot, citing a March Communism."

29, 1957 notarized statement from Oliver Kenneth Goff who said he was a member of the meeting of the Communist Party and the Council.

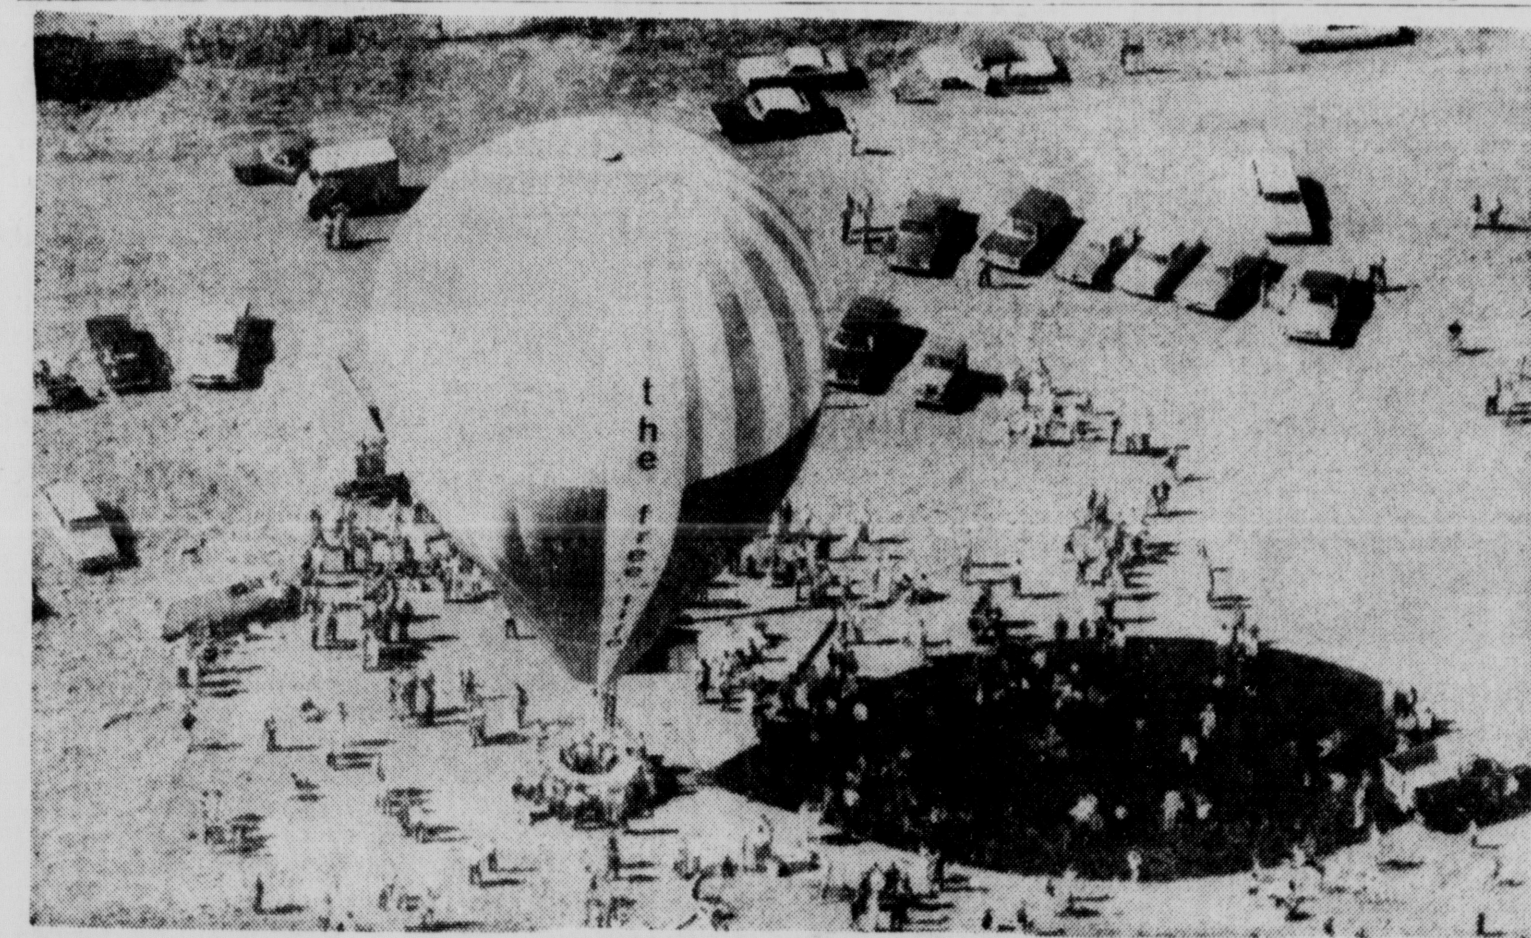

Young Communist League from May 2, 1936 to Oct. 9, 1939. Goff's letter states, "We discussed quite thoroughly the fluoridation of water supplies and how we were using it in Russia as a tranquilizer in the last four years. Mr. Brown's son, John Young Brown Jr., is president of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp. "There are so few adventures left. I wanted to try it," Anderson said. "I guess that's the biggest reason for going, besides, I've never been to Europe."

Brighton plans to join his wife in France and both couples will vacation before Anderson returns to New York and the securities brokerage business and Miss Brown to television acting.

'FREE LIFE' PRIOR TO LIFTOFF

(UPI Telephoto)

Up in a Balloon, Boys --- Or How to Get to Europe

EAST HAMPTON, N.Y. — A "Free Life" helium balloon set out for Europe Sunday, bearing a securities broker, his wife and a British aeronautics engineer looking for a world distance record and adventure.

With a last-minute addition to the crew, the 10-story balloon named "Free Life" lifted off a pasture some 115 miles east of New York City about 1:30 p.m. EDT eight hours late, loaded with equipment.

Rodney Anderson, 32, his wife, television actress Pamela Brown, 28, and Malcolm Brighton, 32, want to become the first persons to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon. They're aiming for Paris, but said they'll take any land they can get. The present ballooning record is 1,896 miles set in 1914 by an eight-man German team. If they make it, the crew of the Free Life will log more than 3,000 miles.

The flight of the Free Life was planned for just two — Brighton, parttime balloonist and full time engineer whose longest flight was across the English channel twice, and Anderson, who has been up in a balloon once for half an hour.

But at the last minute, Miss Brown climbed aboard, saying, "I want to be with Rod." She has never been in a balloon before.

If all goes well, they'll cruise at about 8,000 feet and reach France in four days or five days or two weeks, depending on the wind.

If it doesn't, there are 4,500 pounds of gear aboard, including a four-man liferaft, radio and electronic equipment, food, water and a gallon jug of cognac. The yellow gondola floats.

Free Life is 10 stories high, 50 feet across and filled with helium. Aboard is propane gas for heating air for the balloon if necessary.

The fiberglass gondola is 12 feet across and has walls 4½ feet high. On the side was taped a sign reading "hijack proof."

The excursion has been financed by Miss Brown's father, John Young Brown, who estimated he has sunk "at least $100,000" into the flight of fancy over the last four years. Mr. Brown's son, John Young Brown Jr., is president of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp.

"There are so few adventures left. I wanted to try it," Anderson said. "I guess that's the biggest reason for going, besides, I've never been to Europe."

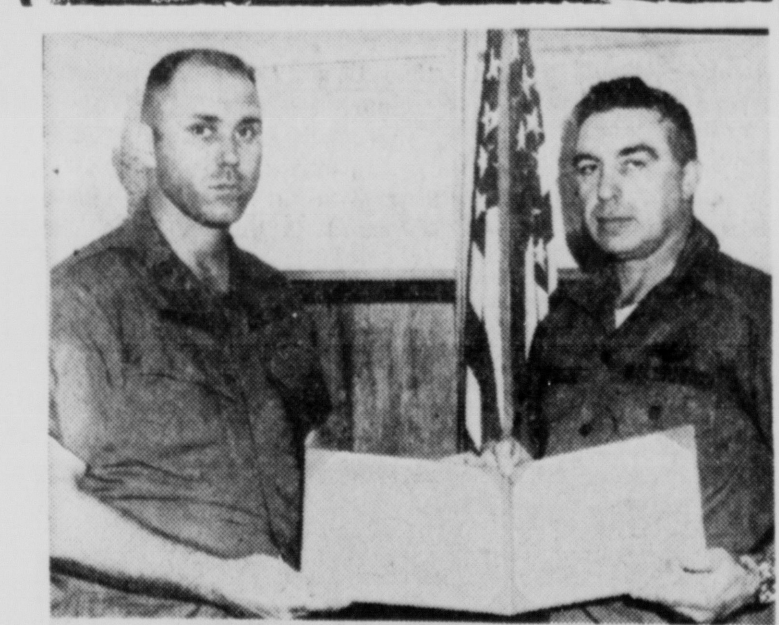

Brighton plans to join his wife in France and both couples will vacation before Anderson returns to New York and the securities brokerage business and Miss Brown to television acting.

Goldberg Issues 5-Point Court Program

By The Associated Press
Arthur J. Goldberg, former U. S. Supreme Court Justice now running for governor as a Democrat, says the state's judicial system is in "enormous disarray."

Putting forward a five-point program for its improvement, Goldberg declared Sunday: "The people want crime reduced, and this requires an efficient and functioning judicial system."

If elected governor, Goldberg said in a position paper, he would draw up constitutional amendments to:

- Provide for adequate financing of the court system
- Establish new methods for the selection, retirement and removal of judges, and their orientation and continuing education

—Establish a streamlined court system

—End fragmented administration of the judicial system

—Remove from the courts matters that can be handled by other authorities.

Rep. Richard Ottinger, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, meanwhile blamed the Nixon administration for the deterioration of the Middle East situation, and called upon it to make an outright gift to Israel of jets, antimissiles and other equipment.

"It could be the only way to avert another world war," he asserted. "... Israel's position grows more precarious every day."

Ottinger said the administration had failed to stand up to alleged cease-fire violations by the United Arab Republic, had not made clear its support for Israel, and had allowed "a situation of vulnerability" to develop.

"We should not toy around any more," said Ottinger, who sounded the same note in a statement and in an appearance on the WCBS-TV program "Newsmakers."

In Rochester Sunday, Ottinger's GOP opponent, incumbent Sen. Charles E. Goodell, urged students not to "turn off and just organize political rallies on your own campus."

Students should "talk specifically" with people off the campus, work for candidates and tell listeners that the Vietnam war isn't the cause of all these problems in America. He's only a symptom."

Another Republican candidate, State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, accused his Democratic opponent of making "irresponsible" statements in criticizing his office's efforts to combat organized crime and narcotics traffic.

"I wish Mr. (Adam) Walinsky would take the trouble to find out something about the office," Lefkowitz said in an appearance on WCBS Radio's "Let's Find Out" program.

He said the attorney-general's office is "the chief legal officer of the state, not the chief law enforcement office."

Lefkowitz defined his job as "civil in nature" and said that district attorneys "have the basic criminal jurisdiction... and the primary responsibility for criminal law enforcement."

The legislature, he added, had voted down bills to give his office more criminal jurisdiction.

Mrs. Meir said in her speech that Israel wanted peace with her Arab neighbors. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Mario Procaccino Backs Buckley for U. S. Senate

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former New York City controller and unsuccessful mayoral candidate Mario Procaccino today endorsed Conservative James Buckley for the U. S. Senate.

Last week, the Democrat endorsed Republican Governor Rockefeller and other statewide incumbents. Comptroller Arthur Levitt was the only Democrat Procaccino backed.

Procaccino said Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N. Y., and Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N. Y., "are so alike it is difficult to tell which is which or who is who." He said the two candidates are "bound to each other by the same leftwing philosophy" and depend on "the support of the radical left."

Procaccino called Buckley "The man who offers us an alternative."

In a statement, Procaccino said "There was a time when men of the calibre of Jim Buckley found their natural political home in the Democratic party."

"This is no time for partisan politics," Procaccino said. "The Democratic party has been captured by the radical left."

Procaccino described Buckley as in favor of "law and order, respect for our police and firemen, first rate neighborhood schools for all the neighborhoods, a fair day's wage for a fair day's work and a scrupulous regard for the tax-payers dollar."

Duryea Joins Battle To Retain GOP Seats

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea launches a two-day, statewide campaign swing today to dramatize the Republican battle to retain control of the state Assembly.

Barring a major upset, the GOP is almost certain of keeping control of the State Senate, but even top Republicans admit their six-vote margin in the lower house is in jeopardy.

It was only two years ago that Duryea and the Republicans took control over the Assembly after being ousted in the 1964 Goldwater landslide.

Duryea said that under the Democrats the Assembly produced "a sorry, inconsistent record," that was even criticized by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. "On the other hand, Republicans have maintained a solid record for action and progress in the legislature and have demonstrated real accomplishment in improving its operation," the speaker said.

Duryea, accompanied by a group of Capitol newsmen and aides, will campaign in the lower Hudson Valley, New York City and on Long Island today.

Tuesday he moves upstate to Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

Throughout the trip he will stress the accomplishments of his two year tenure as speaker and the need to return a Republican majority.

Dixie Governors Press For Aid Against Busing

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Deep South governors apparently will be hard-pressed to muster enough support to pass a strong denunciation of busing to force racial balance in public schools at the Southern Governor's Conference opening today.

Gov. John Bell Williams, the host Mississippi governor and chairman of the conference rules committee, proposed sweeping parliamentary changes including one that would make it easier to pass a resolution.

Passage now requires a three-fourth's vote of those present. The conference at its first working session considered

Williams' proposal to reduce this to a two-third's vote. It could mean a difference of just one vote.

A strong antibusing resolution proposed by Alabama Gov. Albert P. Brewer lost by one vote last year. Border-state governors led by Russell W. Peterson, Delaware Republican, then pushed through a milder resolution.

Williams insisted in a pre-conference news session Sunday that the purpose of changing the rules was to weed out parliamentary inconsistencies, but no one denied a change might make a difference on resolutions.

Paul Adams Answers Charge: Not 'Token' Governor Candidate

By United Press International
Conservative Paul Adams says he is not a "token" candidate for governor as charged by Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg pinned the label on Adams last week as he stated that "Republican leaders openly support" James Buckley, the Conservative candidate for U.S. Senate. The Democratic gubernatorial candidate said there was "circumstantial evidence" that a "deal" has been made for an unofficial ticket of Governor Rockefeller and Buckley.

Adams said Sunday his candidacy is genuine and had an explanation for why as many Republicans have not endorsed him as have endorsed Buckley.

"Mr. Rockefeller operates the Republican party like his own private fief and they are just not in the position as they look at it to buck that kind of thing," Adams said.

The Conservative said he had expected former New York City Controller Mario Procaccino's endorsement of Rockefeller and was surprised only that he "had waited this long."

"The Conservative Democrat that supposedly Mr. Procaccino represented is coming in my direction anyway," Adams said in a New York City television appearance.

Luna Scores

By DAVID NAGY
MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's latest moon probe, Luna 16, made a successful soft landing on the moon Sunday and transmitted "excellent" test pictures from the Sea of Fertility.

The Soviets did not announce the details of Luna 16's tasks, but a report from the West German space observatory at Bochum said the craft transmitted "excellent" test pictures upon landing.

The soft-landing at 8:18 a.m. Sunday marked a Soviet comeback from the failure of Luna 15, which Western space experts said crashed on the moon in July, 1969, while racing Neil A. Armstrong's Apollo 11 mission to the surface.

Luna 16 also was the first Soviet spacecraft to touch down in the lunar landscape since Luna 13 in December, 1966.

The official Tass news agency said Luna's earth controllers coaxed the craft down gently by remote control of its braking engines, which set the silver sputnik down in stages like a jack in reverse.

The agency pinpointed its landing spot in selenographic coordinates as 0 degrees 41 minutes south latitude and 56 degrees 18 minutes east longitude, "in the area of the Sea of Fertility."

"Luna 16 has started making studies of the moon's surface," it said.

There was no indication whether the craft would attempt to scoop samples of moonsoil and blast off again for earth. Space sources in Moscow declined to venture a prediction.

That was the speculation during the Luna 15 mission, helped along by hints to that effect by Soviet space experts. At that time, such a feat would have stolen a small slice of the glory achieved by Apollo 11, and a return to earth still would be a first for an unmanned craft from the surface of a celestial body.

The Luna program began in January, 1959, and led to the first soft-landing on the moon by Luna 9 in February, 1966. The Soviets also have Venus 7 en route to the planet Venus for an attempted landing there about the first of the year.

Drug, Escape Charges Against Teacher, Teen

POUGHKEEPSIE as "roaches", cigarette papers, Nobile gave his address as Highland. A Highland Junior High School teacher, identified as Robert S. Nobile, 23, and a Poughkeepsie teenager, Carl Torgeson, 18, were arrested on a riverfront street in Poughkeepsie Sunday night and as a consequence faced court appearances today on drug and escape charges.

According to Poughkeepsie Police, the two, who were found loitering, were charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs, third degree; escape, third degree and loitering. Police said they seized hashish, marijuana, "many pills," and what they described

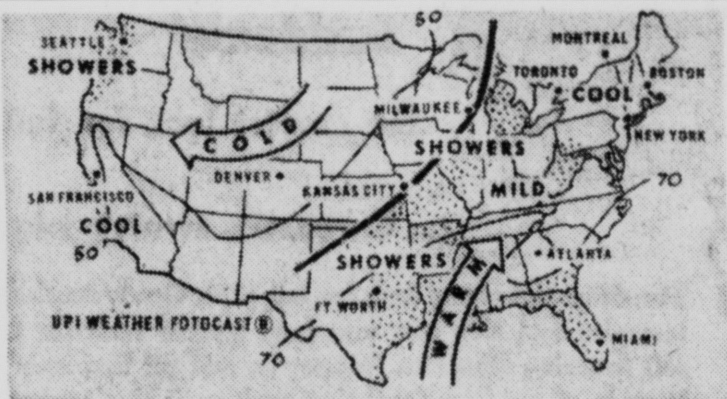

Wawarsing Landfill

ELLENVILLE made at Wednesday's meeting. The Wawarsing Town Board is expected to unveil several alternate landfill sites for consideration at a special meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 23 in the town offices. Since early July, the board has investigated several alternate landfill sites after 13 initial attempts to establish the dump in Napanoch were thwarted by residents of that area. Town officials, however, have not revealed what other alternate areas have been considered. It is not expected, however, that any final decision will be

3-Alarmer at Tile Firm

Po'keepsie Site a Total Loss

POUGHKEEPSIE at the Hudson Valley Accoustical Tile Company on Cottage Street. The building, which was gutted, is thought to be a total loss, according to Capt. DeWitt Newkirk. Seven pieces of fire apparatus responded to the 3 a. m. blaze in the three-story frame structure, the contents of which were completely destroyed according to fire officials who were on the scene until about 8 a. m. The cause of the fire is undetermined and no estimate of the loss involved could be made at this time, officials said. Highland Volunteer Fire Company was on stand-by. In Walker Valley, in what may have been the longest distance mutual aid fire in state history was provided Sunday when volunteer firemen from North Merrick, L. I. helped put out a small barn fire in the Ulster County hamlet. About two dozen firemen and their pumper from the Long Island town about 100 miles away, were among local companies responding to the blaze. Not that the fire was that dangerous. The North Merrick crew had been spending the weekend at nearby Pine Bush, as part of the annual parade of the Orange County Volunteer Firemen's Association and decided to pitch in when the alarm came.

9W North — Corridor Request Next

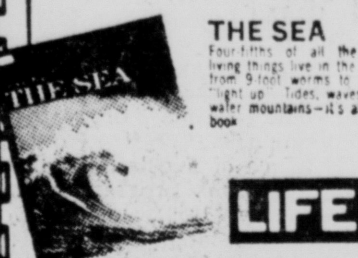

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) today said plans for the realignment and reconstruction of Route 9W in Saugerties-Catskill area have progressed to a point where a corridor hearing is now in order. Under federal law the State Department of Transportation must hold corridor hearings and realignment hearings in order to qualify for federal aid. The plans call for realignment and reconstruction of approximately 8.2 miles of Route 9W in Greene and Ulster Counties. The proposed project begins at the intersection of Route 9W and 23A in Catskill and extends southerly through the Town of Catskill, Greene County and the Town of Saugerties, Ulster County to the vicinity of the Village of Saugerties. Three proposed alternate locations being considered for the project include: Generally along the existing route of 9W; economic and social effects of the proposed project and its impact upon the environment and utilizing combinations of both its consistency with local planning and zoning objectives. Assemblyman Bell said he more must go. This terrible condition will be corrected by this reconstruction and realignment. Anyone requesting a public hearing on the proposed project should contact the Regional Director of Transportation, 50 West Camp, which have taken Wolf Road, Albany on or before many lives and maimed many. Assemblyman Bell said.

Nirenberg Blasts D.A. in Drug Case

ELLENVILLE — Alex J. Nirenberg, Democratic candidate for district attorney, speaking to the Ellenville Jaycees, accused the DA's office of wrongfully and needlessly freeing a man who was convicted by a jury of possession of a large amount of heroin.

"Once again the district attorney's office has thumbed its nose at the people of Ulster County and its law enforcement officers by wantonly opening the jail doors to a man convicted of possession of heroin," he stated.

"The DA's office, by refusing to purchase the minutes of the testimony of the trial in which one David Nixon was convicted by a jury of possession of 12 decks of heroin, forced the county court to order a new trial since the county court could not possibly review the appeal. The DA's office then went one step further. It reduced the charge to a 90-day type of offense, as a result of which the defendant walked out of jail free," Nirenberg continued.

"Their excuse, that this all involves a question as to who, the county or the village, has to pay for the minutes, is empty at most. The DA's office has the money for the minutes in its contingency budget. They always buy the minutes. If there is a valid dispute as to who should pay, the DA's office could have paid for these minutes and sued for reimbursement rather than free a man convicted by a jury of so serious a drug crime. Especially since this question of who has to pay has to be decided by the courts anyway!"

Nirenberg added, "It has also been pointed out that two more men convicted of drug charges will be freed next week for the same reason."

"I think it is about time we stopped moaning and groaning and start acting to stop this DA's office that is completely oblivious and insensitive to the concerns and problems of our youth and our communities," Nirenberg concluded.

Henebery Heads Saccoman Drive

KINGSTON — Thomas W. Henebery has been named coordinator of the campaign of Democratic candidate Joseph F. Saccoman who seeks the office of county treasurer.

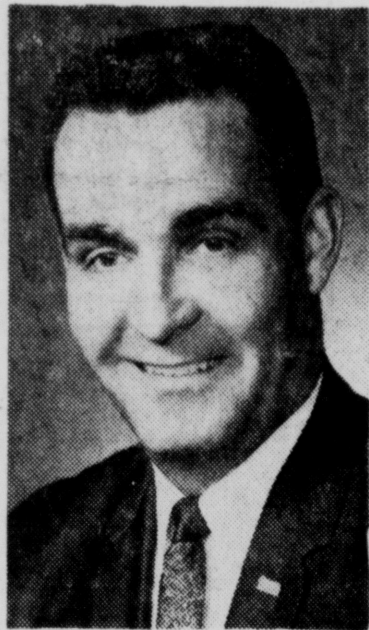

Henebery, who was born in East Kingston, attended local schools and served in the U. S. Air Force in World War II. He joined IBM in Poughkeepsie and is presently traffic manager of IBM, Kingston.

A past president of Kingston Lions Club, he is a Kingston Police Commissioner, past member of the board of the Salvation Army, and has served in various capacities in Community Chest drives.

A member of St. Joseph's Church, he serves as commentator and is a member of the laymen's steering committee.

He and his wife, Virginia and son, Thomas, reside at 38 Plymouth Avenue.

Saccoman, who will oppose incumbent Republican Fred. H. DuBois in the November election, said he is "very delighted and very grateful for Hene-bery's acceptance of the post. I consider myself very fortunate to have one who is possessed of Tom's qualities, ability and civic interests," he concluded.

Beacon GOP Women Switch to Buckley

BEACON — Fifty members of the Republican Women's Club of Beacon have unanimously endorsed James L. Buckley for the U. S. Senate.

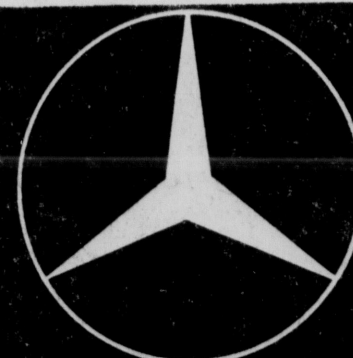

The action was taken Wednesday at a meeting in Beacon with former Congressman Hamilton Fish Sr., father of incumbent Congressman Fish, as guest speaker.

Club members agreed to and urged all Republicans, Democrats and Independents to vote for Buckley by a "bullet" vote on the Independent Alliance ticket.

"Using the local property tax as a major source of funds for public schooling," said Lenefsky, "has only caused an excessive financial burden on low and middle income families."

Lenefsky began the day of campaigning in Kingston by greeting Hercules workers at 6:45 this morning. "Everyone is complaining about their school taxes," Lenefsky noted. "I can win this election," he declared. "If I can get the message out that last year the New York State Legislature, with the help of my opponent, reduced State support for public education. Sickler Nominated For Esopus Board ESOPUS — Residents of Esopus will be facing many changes and innovations within the next few years, among them, the arterial route and sewerage.

Sickler was nominated by County Legislator Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 7) who cited the nominee's background in athletics and youth activities, and stated that Sickler's election would result in the development and promotion of youth programs which would help to curb the serious threat of increased crime and unrest in Esopus.

In accepting the nomination, which was seconded by town attorney, Louis M. Klein, and governed by the following several committeemen of the township, Sickler, who also has government at the minimum necessary expense to the taxation, pointed out that payer."

"The frightening thing," said Sickler, "is the money which these necessary improvements are going to cost us, the taxpayers. We must expand our tax base to meet the needs of our community. This can be accomplished by utilizing the Town Planning Board as a means of inducing 'clean' industry to locate in our community."

The candidate, who resides with his wife, the former Diane Berinato, and two sons on Lakeview Terrace, New Salem, pledged, if elected, to be attorney, Louis M. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 21, 1970

Accelerated Shelter Cost

The cost of shelter has increased 30 per cent nationwide in the last five years, in contrast to the 10 years between 1955 and 1965, a United States Labor Department official reported last week. Herbert Bienstock, New York regional director of Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that the impact of higher shelter costs was primarily in home ownership.

Cost of homes includes home purchase price, mortgage interest, property taxes, home insurance and maintenance and repairs. The influence of monetary policy on home purchase prices and the resultant mortgage cost has been a major factor in the accelerated rise in the cost of shelter. So have the other elements in the cost of housing, as wages and supplies rose rapidly in the last five years.

The annual rate of increase in shelter cost in the 1955 to 1965 period was 2.4 per cent. Then during the last five years, it rose perceptibly until it reached a high of 7.7 per cent in the 1969 consumer price index, and a total of 30 per cent in the last five years. Thus shelter has come to cost a disproportionate share of the over-all cost of living.

House Outcome Gauge

For the last six off-year elections, the loss of House seats for the party in control has averaged 34. Another gauge of the result of the election of the House members is related to the popularity of the man in the White House. In that test, the President's popularity early in the campaign in September—or lack of it—is translated into high or low losses. For instance, Truman's popular rating of 32 per cent in 1946 lost him 55 House seats, whereas Kennedy's 67 per cent popularity in 1962 lost him only four seats.

The latest Gallup poll rating for President Nixon is 56 per cent and Gallup interprets that to mean that the President will lose a "normal" number of seats in November, or 34. The current seat division is 243 Democrats and 187 Republicans. A Republican loss of 34 seats would leave the House with a lop-sided 287 to 153.

Republican strategists are counting on their control of 35 state houses to help their congressional ticket, but many of their governors are themselves running for reelection, and their organizations are busy working for them.

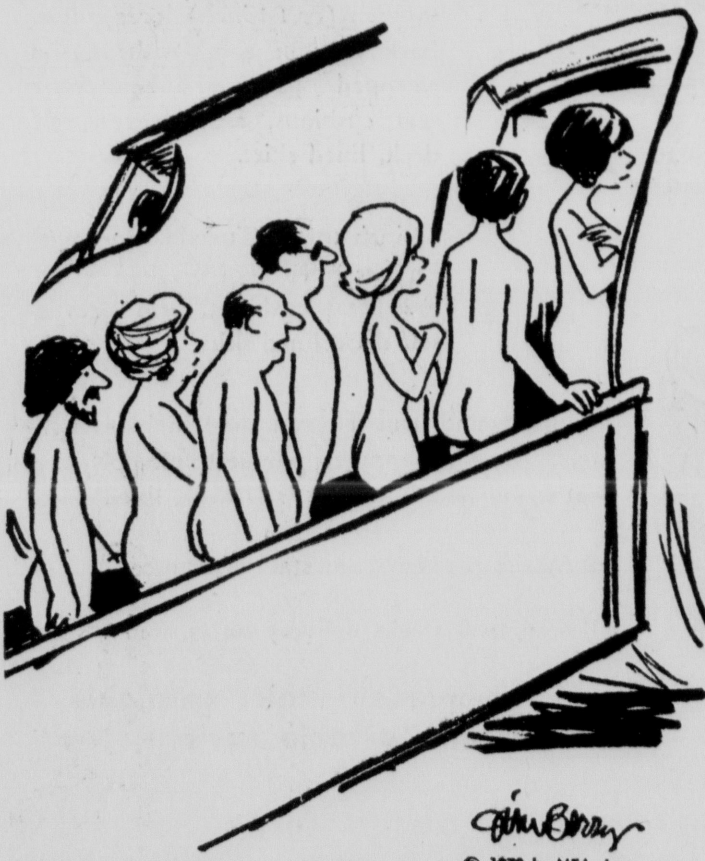

Standards of hygiene in the advanced Western nations "completely rule out" any possibility of cholera epidemic in North America and Western Europe, the World Health Organization says. It is good to know that cholera has been a complete stranger in these regions since WHO began in 1948.

Flags customarily are flown from sunrise to sunset. At the Western White House, the flag has been flying day and night as a patriotic gesture. President Nixon made it legal. He signed a proclamation for the flag to fly at the White House day and night except in inclement weather.

So much information is gathered for credit card investigations, that whole dossiers are built on individuals. In turn, they are fed to computers. Economists warn computers may become a threat to privacy. Their use should be controlled for the protection of people.

The headlines have featured Martha Mitchell's "the war stinks" but she had a good point when she added, "If we could stick together as we used to, we would have been out of the war a helluva long time ago." It's true that so long as the enemy realizes we are not pulling together, they won't negotiate seriously.

David Lawrence Says Diplomats to Concentrate On Release of Hostages

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's warning to the Palestinian guerrillas that they will be held responsible for the safety of American citizens now imprisoned as hostages has raised the possibility of a military intervention by the United States in Jordan. This development, however, is not likely to occur if King Hussein of that country is successful in overcoming the Palestinian rebels. The Jordanian government has sent its armed forces into the areas where the commandos are gathered. There has been heavy fighting, with indications that the guerrillas are getting the worst of it.

State Department spokesmen declare that, while there are no firm plans for military action by this country, there are continuous meetings by high officials to review contingency plans for the Middle East. It is admitted that the United States is facing "a serious situation" and that the government has not foreclosed its traditional right to take any action necessary to save the lives of the American and other hostages being held by the Palestinian commandos. It is recognized, of course, that any foreign intervention might complicate the situation and that it would be much better if the hostages were released promptly, irrespective of how the struggle between the Jordanian troops and the guerrillas eventually turns out.

The United States,

therefore, is awaiting developments, but at the same time using every diplomatic influence it can through other nations to bring about the release of the hostages.

The friction between various Arab groups in the Middle East is a deterrent to an early peace in the area, and it may well be that many months will have to ensue before a ceasefire can be made effective so that negotiations can be undertaken to deal with the many causes of disaffection which have prompted the revolutionary groups to take drastic steps against their government.

The Soviet Union can play an important part in influencing some of the Arab states, and so can the British and French governments. The foreign minister of France says that his government is doing a great deal both in a political and humanitarian role to help work out a settlement in the Middle East conflict. The Iraqi defense minister has conferred this week with the Soviet defense minister in Moscow. Iraq has opposed the ceasefire between Israel and the Arab nations and has been supporting the Palestinian guerrillas.

All these conflicting factors have to be taken into account in order to work out a settlement in the Middle East that will be respected and bring the conciliatory attitude necessary to reducing tensions.

Unquestionably, the seizure of the planes and the holding of crewmen and passengers as hostages has hurt the cause of the Arab states throughout the world, and the ambassadors from the Middle Eastern governments are worried about the reaction of people in various countries to the air piracy. The release of most of the hostages is believed to have been due to the urgent requests of diplomats representing Arab states. It may be expected that these same pressures will continue because people everywhere are outraged by what happened in the hijacking of the planes and the imposition of hardships on the passengers detained in the desert of Jordan.

The State Department here has not divulged much information about future tactics, but it may be assumed that behind the scenes officials are working with other governments to try to bring about an early release of the hostages as a first consideration. When this is accomplished, the efforts being made to get an agreement through an extended ceasefire would seem to have a better chance of success.

Despite the many obstacles that appear to be in the way of settlement, there is a feeling among diplomats that there is more to gain than loss by concentrating on the problem of getting a release of the hostages. Talks then can begin in earnest again about a settlement of all the issues that have troubled the governments of the Middle East.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The gray box-like buses move around the square at the bottom of the hill slowly, their gastro-intestinal rumbling emerging from worn tail pipes, the sighs of brakes resigned as they stop and pick up blacks by the front door to sit in the front. It is fourteen years since the chubby little man with the elevator heels, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., began the first boycott here in Montgomery, Ala., and, through nonviolence, marched his way into history and an assassin's bullet in his spine.

Atlanta is the capital of the industrial South, but Montgomery was and is the heart of the past. Up the hill of Dexter Avenue, looking like a bride cake, is the white-domed capitol of the Confederacy. It was here that Jefferson Davis, with the best of motives, welded the separate states of the South together. Up this street marched the gray-clad regiments, young, gallant men with rough eyes who would fight at Shiloh and Fort Donelson and Bull Run and who would die in strange fields staring unblinking at a broiling sun. That stopped more than a hundred years ago, but the two flags on the dome of the capitol, from top to bottom, are the state banner of Alabama and the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy. If there is room for the American flag, it must be somewhere else, and much lower.

The new war began fourteen years ago when a woman named Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat, in the fifth row of a bus, to a white man. Her feet hurt. Had she been arrested for disorderly conduct, there might have been no basis for a war. Disorderly conduct is anything a policeman wants it to be.

However, she was arrested on a charge of violating a Montgomery ordinance against the mixing of the races.

This was something that a black attorney like Fred Gray could appeal all the way to the Supreme Court, cause the conviction to be reversed, and, in effect, force the entire South to seat people on a first-come, first-served basis. In Montgomery, Negroes had paid their fare at the front of the bus, then had to hop off and run back to the side door to reboard.

They tapped a young minister, Martin Luther King Jr., a stranger from Atlanta, to organize a one-day bus strike. It lasted more than a year. Two groups made him famous overnight: the Montgomery Advertiser, which published his manifesto against riding city buses and thus gave it broad circulation, and a local television station, which featured him imploring blacks to love their enemies.

King's church, the Dexter Avenue Baptist, is a block below the capitol. I sat in his pine-paneled study with Dr. Branch, his successor, and wondered what great changes had been wrought. Well, Dr. King became world renowned as an apostle of peace; he was acclaimed and disclaimed by the Negroes of America; he won the Nobel Peace Prize even though violence and fires and looting often followed his marches.

I sat chatting with an editor of the local paper. We agreed that Dr. King had a superior mentality and noble motives. The men around him, though, were third-rate reverends who aspired to black silk suits and shiny Cadillacs, even though King had a personal task force as well as an executive committee of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, they bickered so frequently that often he had to make the decisions himself.

In Atlanta, I had chatted with his father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., a dark, righteous rock of a man, a man who never looked for trouble but refused to run from it, and in his age he aches because he brought this boy up to take over his own rich church, the Ebenezer Baptist.

But Martin aspired to be bigger than Dad, and, in time, he was. Two days before King went back to the garbage-men's strike in Memphis, there to be slain, his dad begged him not to go. Begged. He didn't realize that the young man had to go or face a charge of personal cowardice. The first march had failed when young Negroes broke ranks and windows — and looted. He had to do it again and do it peaceably.

So he died on a motel porch, and now I asked blacks and whites what great strides Montgomery — the heart of it all — had made in race relations. Both sides said the same thing: "Blacks now board the buses from the front and sit in front; black drivers are employed on buses; where Negroes sit at soda fountains in white stores, the owners rip the fountains out the following morning."

The two sides do not fraternize. The black plays Uncle Tom to the hilt: "Man, hi y'all!" He lives in paint-peeling, clapboard shacks. He gets whatever the white man no longer wants, including old cars.

In the rotunda of the capitol there is no statue of Jefferson Davis. In the center is a white bust of Lurleen Wallace. If the Montgomery black is "more equal" now than when the battle started, I'm blind. ...

Jack Anderson Says Nixon Bars Rescue of Hostages; May Change Mind on Intervention

WASHINGTON — Some hotheads in the White House have urged President Nixon to send troops into Jordan to rescue American hostages and to save King Hussein.

The President has firmly rejected their advice, however, pointing out that the hostages would be dead before the troops could reach them.

At the same time, the U.S. Sixth Fleet has quietly maneuvered into striking position in the Mediterranean, and the Air Force has rushed planes to U.S. bases in Turkey. These are strictly precautionary moves in case American power may be needed to stabilize the troubled Middle East.

The White House, meanwhile, has obtained the solid assurance of the Swiss, British and Germans that they won't make a deal with the Palestinian radicals for hostages unless the Americans and Israelis are also included.

If the hostages are harmed, of course, the President may change his mind about U.S. intervention.

Footnote: The two Algerian security officers, whom Israel has offered to release as part of the exchange for the hijack hostages, may not want to return. They have given their Israeli captors information about Algeria's secret support of the Palestinian guerrillas.

Algeria not only has trained guerrilla officers at its Cherchell Military Academy but has also sent Algerian instructors to guerrilla camps in Jordan and Syria. Algerian officers have also indoctrinated Palestinian leaders in the revolutionary tactics that drove the French out of Algeria.

Publicity Stunt

President Nixon was quick to congratulate Robert Denisco, the Brinks guard who shot a hijacker and saved a TWA airliner from being diverted to North Korea. The President even invited Denisco to lecture his new airline security guards on how to prevent hijacking.

The President's phone call, apparently, was a publicity stunt. For the security guards are receiving careful training on how to stop hijacking without unplay.

The emphasis is on how to restrain a hijacker, yet avoid violence, in the event of air piracy. First, the security guards will use new means to screen passengers and detect concealed weapons before the planes take off.

If a hijacker should succeed in smuggling a weapon on board, the security guards will attempt to stun him with a dart gun or chemical spray. They will use other devices and unorthodox methods that must be kept secret if they are to succeed.

But the last thing they will do is open fire upon the hijacker as Denisco did aboard the TWA airliner.

Volpe's Secret Appeal

Secretary of Transportation John Volpe drove secretly to Capitol Hill last week to implore rebellious Republicans for help in clearing down 800,000 highway billboards.

The peppy Cabinet officer spoke eloquently to GOP members of the House Public Works Committee in a closed anteroom off the vast hearing chamber.

The mission was an ironic one. Even as Volpe journeyed to Capitol Hill to win over the stubborn Republicans, President Nixon was blaming Democrats for blocking his legislative package.

In the anteroom, Ohio's Rep. Bill Harsha, usually a staunch administration wheelhorse, introduced Volpe and his team without enthusiasm. Harsha said lamely that he was wrestling "with this thing" about billboards.

Volpe took over the meeting and spoke passionately for an hour, even though it was clear to the Congressmen that he was ailing. Fatigue has plagued the bantam Cabinet member for weeks.

Volpe told them that America was getting fed up with too much government attention to concrete and not enough to natural beauty.

Shapp Just Leading in Pa.

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent
SCRANTON, Pa. (NEA)—The Democrats' steady claim that a two-time challenger Milton Shapp will take the Pennsylvania governorship out of Republican hands is a lot shakier than appears on the surface.

Shapp's GOP opponent, Lt. Gov. Ray Broderick, has been handicapped all along by his inevitable link to Gov. Raymond Shafer, despite Broderick's repudiation of the governor's unpopular personal income tax proposals.

The judgment today is that Shapp still has the lead in the 1970 race, but has some fairly severe handicaps of his own, which make the race in fact a very tight one that might go either way.

Candid Democratic appraisals start with the concession that Shapp, a wealthy businessman, is not a popular figure. He is neither commanding nor charismatic, and the 1966 GOP charges that he tried to buy that prior election with lavish personal outlays have not lost all their steam.

Shapp also has some serious organizational problems, though these have eased some in the remaining weeks.

For the second time in a row, he scored a hard primary victory over the regular party organization choice, Auditor General Robert Casey. This spring the margin was just 32,000 votes, and might improve still more and the encounter has left Casey sulking and bitter. He was conspicuous by his absence when Sen. Edmund Muskie appeared for Shapp in this populous area, which is Casey's home territory. Shapp lost it by 30,000 in May.

Some Republican experts do not think, however, that Casey and his followers are all that critical a factor. They are more interested in the party shambles Democratic Mayor James Tate presides over in Philadelphia, where Shapp must do exceedingly well to win the state.

Four years ago Shapp's Philadelphia margin of 112,000 was insufficient, and Shafer took him by 241,000 votes. A Democratic nominee really needs a Philadelphia advantage upwards of 200,000 before he is in business.

Democratic analysts are privately worried not only about Philadelphia but about the Pittsburgh area, "normally" theirs by margins up to 100,000. Republican surveyors view the region hopefully.

Pittsburgh's reform mayor, Peter Flaherty, endorsed Shapp over Casey but has done nothing visible for him since. Some sources say he is deeply immersed in problems of his own.

Shapp, stung by the charges he tried a "money blitz" in 1966, especially with his late-hour saturation of television in the primary against Casey, is playing it low-key this time.

Yet Democrats themselves report he spent $1.2 million in this year's primary, against $1.4 million reported in 1966.

Shapp's television advertising this time is being verted this time is being held off until around Oct. 5, and his radio presentations also have been delayed. The period since his May victory has been an advertising void.

Tiede Is in Debt To Black Panthers

By TOM TIEDE

PHILADELPHIA (NEA)—If the Black Panthers ever really get their revolution going, I know who one of their targets may be. Me. Not because I'm a whitey, not even because I'm unsympathetic. But because I owe them 25 cents.

I had come to Philadelphia, following the terrorist-like attacks on seven local police officers (one was killed), to assess the Panther party sentiment. Did they do it? Did they order it done? Was it the start of something big?

I had no trouble locating the Panther grounds. North Side. Around Temple University. Members of the local party were clearly visible. And so were the leftovers and hangers-on of a recent, Panther-sponsored People's Revolutionary convention—all clumped in groups of beret-wearing tourists without cameras, hunched over colas in the eateries, marching in simulated skirmish lines (five abreast) down the sidewalks and glaring from inside parked automobiles.

My troubles began when I approached one such clump in an automobile.

It was 9 p.m. And the burned-out street lights behind Temple campus did nothing to illuminate my search for co-operative Panther conversationalists. I had initiated a half-dozen sessions along Broad and adjacent streets, with no success. "Ain't got nuffin" to say. "Man, I never hears of Huey Newton." So when I saw the carload of black berets, I was so eager for some questions and answers, I paid no attention to the fact the street was otherwise deserted.

"Hey, man," one of the car occupants said, "you from the TV?"

I said I wasn't. "We don't talk to nobody but the TV," Chuckle.

At first the people were mostly suspicious, as anyone might be if approached out of the dark by a newsman. The fellow on the curbside, wearing red, answered some of the preliminary queries (Q: Do you mind talking? A: It's O.K.) with noncommittal reserve. The situation was routine to the point of uneventful.

And, actually, the whole thing should have ended shortly. None of the occupants admitted to knowing any local Panther leader; only two of them said they were Panthers themselves. And I was about to give the interview up for lost, when the car's driver, who so far had said nothing, got out and called:

"Hey, man, how 'bout buying the Panther paper?" He pushed a rolled-up tabloid at me. It was indeed the Panther publication, Volume 5, No. 10. One week old.

"Sorry," I lied, "I already have one."

But the man, clean-shaven and a little plump, persisted. He said something about buying a second one for good measure. Then he alluded to the fact that I had taken up his friends' time and owed them something. Finally, he put the paper under my arm, motioned the rest out of the car and turned his request into demand.

"You owe us a buck."

I protested that the copy price is only 25 cents. "The rest is a donation. For the revolution, man." He laughed.

Woman Injured In City Mishap

KINGSTON
An Ulster Park woman was injured early Sunday morning while a passenger in her husband's car when it was in collision with a parked auto in front of 313 Hasbrouck Avenue.

Kingston City Police said that Harry V. Stokes, 24, of Box 42, Ulster Park, told them he was driving south on Hasbrouck Avenue at 3:34 Sunday morning when an oncoming auto forced him into a parked car owned by Robert P. Slover of 315 Hasbrouck Avenue. The impact carried the Slover vehicle into a car parked in front of it owned by James Bradford of 311 Hasbrouck Avenue.

Mrs. Stokes, 20, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance with lacerations to the head and a possible concussion. Slover administered first aid until the ambulance arrived. There were no summons issued.

Senior Citizen Play Tonight At Auditorium

Burglary, Drug Arrests Result In Greene

ATHENS
It all began, apparently, when Mark Kristovich Jr., 29, of Catskill was arrested Saturday night at 6:30 p. m. on a charge of harassing a New York State Trooper's wife.

Troopers from the Leeds Barracks, who did not identify the trooper or his wife, responded to the complaint and arrested Kristovich for harassment, criminal trespass third, and later, Green County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail on the burglary charge.

The man was taken before Athens Village Justice (Mrs.) Marion Herr who sent him to the Greene County Jail in lieu of $1,550 bail.

Early Sunday night, troopers said, three men, whom they described as acquaintances of Kristovich, went to Justice Herr's home, after, according to Justice Herr and the troopers, Anton Gerkman, 21, of Athens, was arrested on a burglary third charge after allegedly breaking into the Herr home. He was accompanied by Edward Miller, 18, and Philip Miller Jr., 19, and Kenneth Kiernan, 18, all of Athens.

Kiernan was arrested and arraigned before Justice Kerr on a harassment charge. Edward Miller was arrested for resisting arrest and harassment and Philip Miller was arrested for desecrating the flag. He

County Vols Plan Dedication Rites at Murphy Center

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

ELLENVILLE — Dedication ceremonies for installation of a plaque at the County Fire Control Center at Golden Hill, honoring former Kingston Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy will be held Sunday, Oct. 4 at 2 p. m.

Arrangements for the dedication at Mutual Aid Headquarters named the Joseph L. Murphy Center, were discussed at a recent session of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association held at the Pioneer Engine Company rooms in Ellenville.

Earlier this year, by resolution of the County Legislature, the fire control center was named in honor of the late fire chief, who was a charter member of the County Vols. Murphy, who died Feb. 21 of this year, was the organizer of the Mutual Aid System, which has its headquarters at the control center.

County Vols officers, members and county legislative officials will participate in the ceremonies. Miller Locke, chairman of the Plaque Committee reporting on the event, announced that the plaque ordered by the County Vols had arrived and was ready for installation. Invitations will be sent to the various committees and the family of the late fire chief.

Ernest Dunn of Saugerties, chairman of Fire Prevention Week activities asked each com-

$ CHECKS FOR MD — A handful of checks amounting to more than $400 was turned over to the Muscular Dystrophy fund, the results of a recent Saugerties neighborhood children's carnival conducted at the Lauffer residence in Barclay Heights. Four of the children involved turn the checks over to Lewis Kirschner, county representative for MD. The children are (L-R) Susan Blanchard, Glenn Whelan, Frank Lauffer and Becky Zulick. This is believed to be the largest amount collected at a MD children's carnival. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged

MRS. ROBERT NACCARATO
(Lakeside Studio)

St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Dacia Underhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Underhill Jr., 116 Elm Street, Saugerties, and Robert Naccarato, son of Mrs. John Naccarato, 32 Lighthouse Drive, Saugerties, and the late John Naccarato, on Sunday, Sept. 6.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Bunyard provided traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the altar.

The bride was escorted in marriage by her father. She selected a white gown of satin crepe fashioned with long tapered sleeves. The gown featured a round yoke, embroidered in seed pearls. Seed pearls trimmed the chapel length train. Her queen's crown of seed pearls and crystals secured a triple tiered butterfly veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Diane Naccarato, sister of the bridegroom, Saugerties, was maid of honor. Attendants were Mrs. Candy Knapp, Poughkeepsie; Mrs. Allen Glassman, Kingston; and Miss Rebecca Underhill, sister of the bride. All attendants wore gowns of white organdy with long sleeves trimmed with moss green velvet at the waists. The gowns featured vests of orange and green. They wore bows in their hair of the colors of the vests and carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and orange and green streamers.

Jack Naccarato, Saugerties, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Allen Glassman, Kingston; James Gordon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Hurley; and Joseph Bosco, Saugerties. John Naccarato, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 120 guests was held at the Flamingo.

The bride wore a white pant suit for her traveling ensemble to the Adirondack Mountains.

Mrs. Naccarato was graduated from Saugerties High School. She attended Richard the First School of Beauty, Poughkeepsie, and is employed by Rosendale Jo-Dee Hair Stylists.

Her husband is an alumnus of St. Mary's School and Saugerties High School. He attended Richard the First School of Beauty, Kingston, and is co-owner of Joseph Beauty Salon in Saugerties.

The couple will reside at 21 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties.

Saugerties Club Names Speaker

The first general meeting of the 1970-71 club year for the Woman's Club of Saugerties is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 24, at 8 p.m. at the Dutch Arms Chapel. Mrs. Robert Anderson, education chairman, will introduce the speaker for the meeting, Lawrence B. Siewers.

Mr. Siewers is executive director of the Children's Home in Kingston. He is responsible for the development, supervision, and coordination of all phases of the residential program at the Home, the Family Service Center, and the foster home program.

Prior to his responsibilities in Kingston, he was associated with the Albany Home for Children, beginning in 1957 as Director of Social Work, then as Director of Clinical Services, and in 1961 he was made the Assistant Executive Director of the Home. He has also served as a School Social Worker in the Bethlehem Central School Professional Services Unit, and as a Child Development Counselor, Otsego County Vocational Education and Extension Board.

In other related experiences, Siewers has served as instructor in the Evening Division of Russell Sage College and Ulster County Community College; Supervisor of students for Syracuse University School of Social Work; and on the administration of Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, as well as the Edwin Gould Foundation Program on Administration, Harvard University.

The meeting is open to all interested area women. A business meeting after the program and the Club's Yearbook will be distributed by Mrs. William Hayes, Yearbook Chairman.

Kingston Academy Reunion Planned

It's that time again when the committee gets busy rounding up old classmates for the annual Kingston Academy Reunion to be held Oct. 4 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. As is the custom, the class of 1915 invites all earlier classes or anyone interested in Old Kingston Academy to join the festivities. Those who attended Ulster Academy but had friends at Kingston Academy, are welcome to join the festivities and renew old times, football games and dances.

The deadline for reservations is Sept. 30. Contact the committee member of your class for details or call Harry du Bois Frey, Kingston, reservations chairman.

Frontier Dress

Perhaps the most feminine and flattering look in mid-lengths is the "frontier" dress... which is just a new name for the old-fashioned square dance dress. This fall, schoolgirls can look like calico cuties in printed cotton midi dresses with puffed sleeves and deeply flounced skirts.

WEDDING DAY SAVED FOR WEDDING FESTIVITIES

Dear Mrs. Post: Our son recently married a girl in a neighboring state. My husband and I met her parents only six weeks before the wedding when we went to make arrangements for the rehearsal dinner. Several of my friends from our home town attended the wedding. An informal supper was given by the bride's parents after the wedding, and since we did not know anything at all about the supper or their plans for us to be there, until just before going back to our hotel after the reception, we didn't go, as plans had already been made with friends of ours. Now, I am accused of being rude and causing my daughter-in-law's parents embarrassment and humiliation. It seems that we might have at least received a telephone call or note before the day of the wedding. We thought that their invitation, which was made very casually, was only one of courtesy and had no idea that we were really expected. My daughter-in-law says we should have 'known' that a supper was planned. Would you please comment on this regrettable situation?—Mrs. R. E.

Doing the Right Thing

Dear Mrs. E.: The bride's family should have issued more than a "casual" invitation to the supper. But since you should have made sure it had been mentioned to you, before accepting another invitation. Although I would never recommend such a course ordinarily, because a wedding is such an important occasion, I believe you should have relied on your friends' understanding, and told them that you had misunderstood the plans and were expected at your son's in-laws' for supper. Possibly you could have dropped in on your friends after making a short appearance at the supper.

Look Around: How Do People Really Eat?

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) Take a look at the contents of your neighbor's shopping cart in the supermarket if you want to know what kind of life he or she leads.

Distinct new life styles and consumer attitudes are reflected clearly in our food buying patterns, says Chain Store Age, a trade publication in its annual supermarket sales manual issue.

You hear a lot about the new "singles" society—groups of young adults banding together in large metropolitan areas. The report showed them largely responsible for the current boom in single-portion prepared food products, ranging from frozen casseroles to canned puddings.

These desserts now represent 42 per cent of all pudding sales, ahead of multi-service canned puddings and packaged mixed—and this after only nine months of national distribution.

If you think dry cereals are just kid stuff, think again.

The study said they're the number one breakfast product, up 10 per cent in dollar volume. The figures are for 1969. One Maryland-based buyer said sales do fantastically well with "singles" living five to six in an apartment in Washington, D. C.

"Singles" and two member households also largely are responsible for pushing sales of eight-slice cheese packs ahead of the 12-slice variety, the survey showed.

The magazine added that the wide acceptance of instant breakfast products indicates both a stepped-up pace of life for the average city-dweller and a breakdown in formal eating patterns. A 300 per cent increase in the formal snack market in the past three years is another clue to irregular family eating habits.

New England buyers told the magazine that instant breakfasts have taken over as part of the convenience market for the 70 per cent of families who don't breakfast together.

The report also showed that families with two or more children are the major consumers, demographically, of these instantly made, instantly consumed foods.

The impact of the new consumerism is reflected in a coming trend to non-code bread dating forecast by manufacturers.

Increasing interest in good nutrition shows up in sales of everything from pasta products and bread to dairy foods and canned fish. The report showed young families responsible for a six to 10 per cent growth rate in premium bread sales last year. Their education and life style makes them more aware of nutrition and less willing to sacrifice it in the name of economy, the magazine added.

It showed premium pasta products selling faster than less expensive one for the same reason. But rising pasta sales in the last six months of 1969 were credited largely to budget problems.

Nutrition and good health considerations also led to increased sales of high protein dairy products in all categories, with fatfree milk, cottage cheese and yogurt among the heaviest growth products.

The magazine said 30 to 40 per cent of yogurt users buy the cultured milk product for health or weight-watching, but up to 40 per cent of its is bought by persons—especially teenagers—who eat it because they like it. Seems teen-agers consider it a "kookie" snack.

Rising sales of canned fish are indicators both of hard times and growing interest in high-protein diets and good nutrition. They are an outstanding value compared with fresh meat, fresh and frozen fish, lunch meats and cheese.

But paradoxically, convenience foods at premium prices also are booming. Flavored rice sales have risen 80 per cent in the past five years—both regular mixes and gourmet blends such as mushroom and onion, rice pilaf and long grain and wild rice combinations.

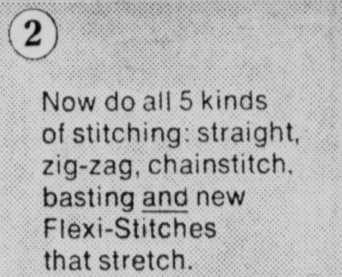

Gourmet spice blends in fancy jars are up 10 to 20 per cent over regular box and tin packs. It's the youth market again—as young families' income rise, upgrading of food quality becomes a way of life, the magazine reported.

But the fastest growing section in the supermarket features pet food. It's not that table scraps aren't good enough for Fido and Kitty any more. The widespread use of convenience foods has virtually eliminated trimmings and leftovers.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've found a very inexpensive protective covering for my washer and dryer.

I took a fitted, twin-sized bottom sheet that was worn-out and ripped it in half, crosswise. Then hemmed the torn edge.

The fitted end fits over the dial panel of each machine. It's easy to slip on or off and while it's not the best looking cover, it's cheap and effective.

Your name may be Hill, but you've a MOUNTAIN of an idea, gal! It's especially wonderful if your machine is kept on a porch or garage. Keeps the dust out of those controls.

LETTER OF TRUTH

Dear Heloise:

Why is that when we crack eggs to fry that five out of 10 yolks break . . . but when we crack them to scramble, not one yolk breaks?

Betty Rogan

Dear Heloise:

My teenage daughter goes through pantyhose like only another teenager's parents would believe!

I cut off the legs about two inches above the knee and wear the tops as underpants for myself for everyday.

Mrs. M.B.K.

Dear Heloise:

Here's a suggestion for older people who find it hard to give themselves a pedicure. I do one foot at a time . . . and skip a few days in between feet.

I soak one foot only, clip the nails and pay attention to corns and calluses. Less tiring that way.

Music that evening will be provided by "Ingo and the Continentals."

Oktoberfest Slated By Sport Club

The Kingston Sport Club will give an original Munich Oktoberfest on Saturday, Oct. 31 in the clubhouse at Oehler's Mountain Lodge, Morgan Hill Road, Route 28A, West Hurley. Festivities will get underway at 9 p.m.

The evening will feature an original Bavarian Brass Band, "The Hofbrau Six," plus a Schuhplattler group. Weisswurst and pretzels will be served.

Reservations are not necessary.

Ulster Garden Club To Host Meeting

The Ulster Garden Club will host a zone meeting of the New York State Garden Clubs, member of the Garden Clubs of America, in Kingston on Tuesday, Sept. 29. A series of meetings, dinner parties and tours is being planned for the occasion which will conclude with a luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 1.

Delegates attending the zone meeting will be housed by members of the local club. The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. William Everdell III of New York City, chairman of Zone III and a member of the North Country Garden Club of Syosset, L. I. There are 21 clubs in the New York State organization.

Heading up arrangements for the State meeting locally are officers of the Ulster Garden Club: Mrs. Jansen H. Preston, president; Mrs. Robert Cline, vice president; Mrs. Clarence Hansen, secretary; and Mrs. L. LeVan Haver, treasurer.

The Zone Meeting Committee is headed by Mrs. Kenneth Davenport of Stone Ridge as chairman and Mrs. Burton Davis as co-chairman. Serving on the committee are Mrs. Jansen H. Preston, Mrs. Herbert Gade, Mrs. Alfred Schmid, Mrs. Robert Herzog, Mrs. Anderson Carl, Mrs. Robert Moseley, all of Kingston; Mrs. Philip LeFevre, New Paltz; Mrs. Francis Davenport, High Mount; Mrs. William T. Fuller, Kingston; Mrs. Terry Staples, Saugerties; Mrs. Robert Cline, Mrs. John Bragg, also of Saugerties.

Through the cooperation of its 175 clubs in this country, the Garden Club of America has been able to list such achievements as saving the Redwoods in California and to assist in the purchase of a Redwood Grove of 2,552 acres in Humboldt County now called the Garden Club of America

Sewing Workshop Opens This Week

A free three-day sewing workshop for women interested in the art of sewing has been scheduled for Sept. 24-26 by Britts Department Store, Kingston Plaza.

Specialists in the field will be on hand for a series of workshop sessions scheduled throughout the three days highlighting such topics as fitting, tailoring, lining and trimming garments. This is an opportunity for anyone with sewing questions to have them answered by representatives from several leading firms.

Among those on hand for the sewing workshop will be Mrs. Marion Koniuk of Saugerties, who has been a county leader for the Home Economics Division of the Cooperative Extension Service. Mrs. Koniuk is a member of the executive committee for the Home Economics Division.

Kristina Markle, Stacy Fabrics Corporation's Educational Representative, is an accomplished seamstress and will give valuable advice on today's fashions and fabrics.

Carol Bryant, stylist for Simplicity Patterns, is a native of New Mexico and has worked for Sears and J. C. Penney's in Albuquerque. Long interested in home sewing, she is an accomplished seamstress.

Maureen L. Norton, fashion and educational representative for William E. Wright Company, has taught fashion and clothing construction and her experience includes planning and coordinating fashion shows.

Betsy McCalla, educational representative for Unique Zipper, usually presents programs designed for Home Economics teachers, extension and all areas of Home Economics education. She provides information to consumers on couture finishes and new ideas in clothing construction techniques.

Salt Pile Controversy - 58 Oppose Shift

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Some 58 residents of the South Clinton Avenue, Wilbur Avenue section of the city have signed a petition in protest to a proposal to move the Morton Salt pile from the Tremper Avenue area to their area of the city. The petition was carried by on Friday afternoon.

Two 13th Ward Republican committee members, Sidney Lane and Albert Eisele, and was handed into Mayor Francis R. Koenig. The petition reads, "We, the undersigned, request the mayor to take all necessary action to prevent the use of land in the South Clinton Avenue, Barmann Avenue and Wilbur Avenue area for a stockpile of rock salt.

"The use of land in this neighborhood for such stockpiling is contrary to the best interests of the residents of said area. Air and water pollution will result with damage to local buildings as well as vegetation. Traffic problems will also result."

Mayor Koenig was not available for comment this morning, being in Rochester at a meeting of state and federal housing officials.

One of the signers of the petition was 13th Ward Alderman Titus B. Sims. Up until the petitions were signed Sims had taken a neutral position on the controversy.

He is now against the proposed move. Sims said today,

"If adequate protection could be given I would not oppose this move. However, I do not feel that adequate protection can or will be provided and therefore I am opposed to it."

"I feel that the only real solution is to get the stockpiling of salt out of the city of Kingston. I'm concerned not only for the people in this area but for the people in the Tremper Avenue area."

The proposed site for the salt pile lies on the border of Sims' 13th Ward and Alderman Edward Norton's 11th Ward. Norton, who was ill over the weekend, was not available for comment today.

The controversy heated up about a month ago when residents of the Tremper Avenue area of the city where the salt has been located for several years lodged complaints Perry, along with former Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, said attention by The Daily Free-Press they were going to move the man. The residents claimed salt pile after numerous complaints from Tremper Avenue their homes and their autos and area residents.

Before Friday's petitions were presented to the mayor, it seemed that the main stumbling block to Schrowang's plan would be getting the railroad to build a spur to the rear of the Barmann property.

Schrowang's attorney, Edward T. Feeney, indicated that the railroad, Penn Central, had appeared to be in favor of the idea but that was before the company went bankrupt. It is expected that Mayor Koenig will call in the principals for a meeting in his office when he comes back from last October when Seventh Ward Alderman Michael S. Rochester on Thursday.

Our Problem Priorities— A New County Approach

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Disturbed by today's community problems? Puzzled as to how you may best make your voice heard...how you can become involved in decision making?

Ulster County will soon have a new vehicle for expression of opinion—a series of town meetings at which the public voice will be sought on problem priorities in order to go "Forward in the Seventies."

The concept, under study in Kingston for two years by a 15-member committee, working under the sponsorship of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, is an effort to "bring us together," according to Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, chairman.

More than 800 invitations have gone out to the first town meeting to be held Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Kingston High School auditorium. Anyone interested is invited to attend, according to Len Cane, executive vice president of the Chamber.

In addition to Dr. Sachs and Cane, members of the committee include: Sister Mary Charles, administrator of Benedictine Hospital; Dr. Herbert Derman, Michael Fagan, the Rev. John Gilmore, Herbert Hekler, director of the Ulster County Planning Department; Clifford Henze, president of Kingston Savings Bank; Everett Hodge, director of the local chapter of NAACP; Charles Raible, vice president, Rotron Inc.; Howard Rust, Richard L. Treat, vice president and general manager, The Daily Freeman; Anthony Triguizi, administrator of Kingston Hospital.

Also, Robert Yallum, Kingston businessman, and Mayor Francis R. Koenig.

The first town meeting will feature a presentation by David Locks, president of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress who will outline Pattern's version of problems in other areas as well as the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Dr. Sachs, who feels the program is intended to cut down on public apathy, said that problems such as transportation, housing, education, social and tax reform, environment and ecology will all be given exposure as well as those in broad general categories.

"We are looking to obtain the views of as large a cross-section of the population as possible," Dr. Sachs explained, adding that the views will be solicited after interested persons have been exposed to the facts.

"We are attempting to help the American tradition of democracy work," he said. "It can't work if people don't make their views known and participate."

The 15-member committee, which is known as the Total Community Development Committee, was conceived because it felt that "no one group in the community can see or fully understand all the problems of the community."

"We concede that we alone cannot solve all the problems—whomever 'we' may be," it states. "Therefore, we have come to understand that until we get together with others, we cannot mobilize the total resources needed to solve the critical problems of the towns and cities."

Dean Kintner, president of the Chamber, who will welcome those attending and Cane, who will moderate the program, see the project as a means of identifying mutual objectives and naming problems blocking achievement of those objectives.

They also see it as a means of bringing people together and groups in the community to examine available alternatives for solving the problems and establishing priorities and taking action.

Cane, commenting on the invitations, which went out to organizations as well as individuals, said that if any organization was missed, it was purely unintentional. He also pointed out that attendance at the town meeting in no way obligates an organization or an individual.

One member of the TCD committee, Howard Rust, has volunteered to seek to involve youngsters in the proposal. A second community meeting is scheduled for sometime in October.

Volunteers Throughout County

Industrial Committee Listed for Chest Drive

KINGSTON
Wilbur R. Peters, chairman of the Industrial Solicitations Committee of the Ulster County Community Chests 1970-71 fund drive, has announced that his committee is now organized to cover local industry on a county-wide basis.

Peters said that his volunteers cover a cross section of the county and represent a dynamic team of workers who will have the responsibility of contacting local industry during the six-week chest campaign.

The committee includes: Joseph Benjamin, Robert Strickland, Thomas Reynolds, Minford Overfield, Frank Byer, Christus Larios, Francis "Skip" Kugelman, Len Cane, Edward de Groff, Harry Re, Robert Garland, William Willt, Clarence Winchell, Raymond Armater, Robert Davis, David

Rylance, Francis Skelly, LeRoy Stoothoff, Kenneth Pangburn, William Hobbs, Nathan Aaron, Stanley Petro and Jake Benjamin.

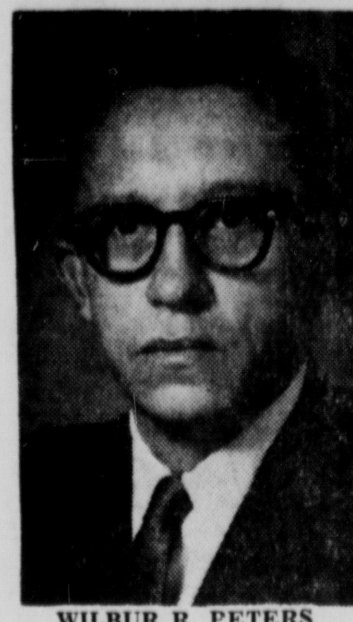

The committee has the responsibility of coordinating the collection of donations from several county industries, representing a large segment of Ulster County's population. The industries to be canvassed include: Central Hudson Gas and

Electric Corp., Colonial Roofing and Siding, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Ertel Engineering, Kingston-Thompson's Laundries, Colony Liquor Distributors, Utility Platers, A. R. Newcombe Inc., Adirondack Transit, Shults Paint Co., Ulster Tool and Dye, Canfield Supply Co., Quality Maple Block, Charles Ramsey Corp., Hucktrol, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Smith

Parish Roofing, Barclay Knitwear, Kingston Knitting Mills, The Daily Freeman, Rylance and Sons, W G B Oil Clarifier, Century Cement, Universal Road Machinery, Reliance Marine, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York Telephone, Herzog's, Britt's Dept. Store, Wallaces, Prudential Insurance Co., the Governor Clinton Hotel, Marquett Cement, F. L. Russell Co., and Varifab, Inc.

Peters expressed optimism that area industry, both large and small, would continue to support the chest goals and continue to support the community of Ulster County as has been the tradition in years past. He added that local industry is comprised of local people and each person continues to be educated to the needs of the Chest. This is the unseen work of his committee, he concluded, but the financial rewards are always there to prove the efforts that have been expended.

Homeowners In New Paltz Set Meeting

NEW PALTZ

The first membership meeting of the New Paltz Homeowners Association will be held Thursday, Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. in the New Paltz Middle School cafeteria, it was announced recently.

In order to become a member of the organization, a person must own real property within the Town of New Paltz or within the New Paltz Central School District.

According to organizers of the association, its purpose is to "stimulate public interest in the affairs of the community." The association will attempt to "encourage prudent use of public funds, disseminate information of current interest, investigate alternate methods of financing community support and serve other critical interests of the community."

Areas of concern for the group will also include "preservation of the historic and natural beauty of the area and the orderly development of housing, business and industry," it was noted.

The initial meeting of the association will include a brief speaker's program that will feature an address by the president of the group, Herbert Weinman. Topics to be discussed will include education, conservation, development, opportunities and governmental operations.

Refreshments and a discussion period will follow the speaker's program.

Library Meeting

The Rosendale Library Association will hold a meeting Tuesday 7:30 p.m. at the library, Main Street. All members may attend this important meeting.

Troy Nips Kingston on Two-Point Conversion

By MORT LAFFIN

his feelings after watching the only two games in the past two years and Class A co-champions Maroons, led by the fine running back inside the 20 yard line and had the next play go for a touchdown. But, fortune seemed to smile on Kingston as it was called back on a penalty.

The fourth quarter became a comedy of errors for both squads as they traded the ball back and forth on fumbles, penalties and interceptions.

Burgess' interception of a Perry pass halted a KHS drive, off-setting two fumble recoveries by Time Palen and John McCumber. The winners also made use of motion and offside penalties to run out the clock.

Kingston took the ball over with 12 seconds left on the clock on their own nine-yard line. Dennis Harrison, a long-ball throwing quarterback, was inserted for a desperation pass that fell short of the intended receiver.

Alecca Scores Three to Pace Ganders

Mike Alecca, fleet-footed half-back for the Rondout Valley Ganders, scored three times Saturday as his team defeated visiting Pawling, 38-0, in a non-league season opener.

STONE RIDGE the team's premiere runner last season, scored twice in the first quarter and added another in the third.

The first score for the scamp-ering scaback came on a pitch-visit Pawling, 38-0, in a non-league season opener. Alecca, Wallack that went for 59 yards over inside the 50. Seven plays later, Alecca broke around end up again in the second period as five-yard line in the third quarter and went 12 yards for the TD. he drove it home from seven-ter. Wallack then ran the quar-back sneak for the two-point conversion. The Ganders scored cake with a four-yard burst over side Rondout territory.

Onteora Surprises Red Hook in Opener, 20-7

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

BOICEVILLE. Onteora High won the toss against Red Hook here Saturday but elected to kick off. In a few minutes, the Indians' strategy was obvious.

"We felt the defense could do the job," said an elected Coach Lary Karas after Onteora had surprised the heavily favored Dutchess County Raiders, 20 to 7, in the seasonal opener for both teams.

The OCS defense, finely honed by assistant Joe Friedel, did its job superbly. It took command of the game from the opening, kickoff, forcing the Raiders into several costly mistakes and limiting them to 20 yards rushing and a harmless third quarter touchdown.

The Indians, relying almost entirely on their ground game, racked up 172 yards rushing, 85 of which were credited to junior halfback, John Langling, who emerged as the new work horse of the team.

But it was three Red Hook mistakes—two fumbles and a stolen pass—that decided the issue on a warm, sunny afternoon in the foothills of the Catskills.

Langling bulled his way 23 yards after Terry Tougas recovered a fumble on the Red Hook 23 and quarterback Dan Brown sneaked over from the end zone for a quick 6-0 lead. Langling rush for the extra point failed.

Vlad Hoyt, the alternate quarterback, registered the second OCS fumble recovery again on the Red Hook 27 in the second period. This time Langling picked up 17 yards on two bolts through the line, added another one and senior halfback Chuck Lemons slammed off tackle from 9 for the 2nd TD. Langling rushed for two and the half ended 14-0 Onteora.

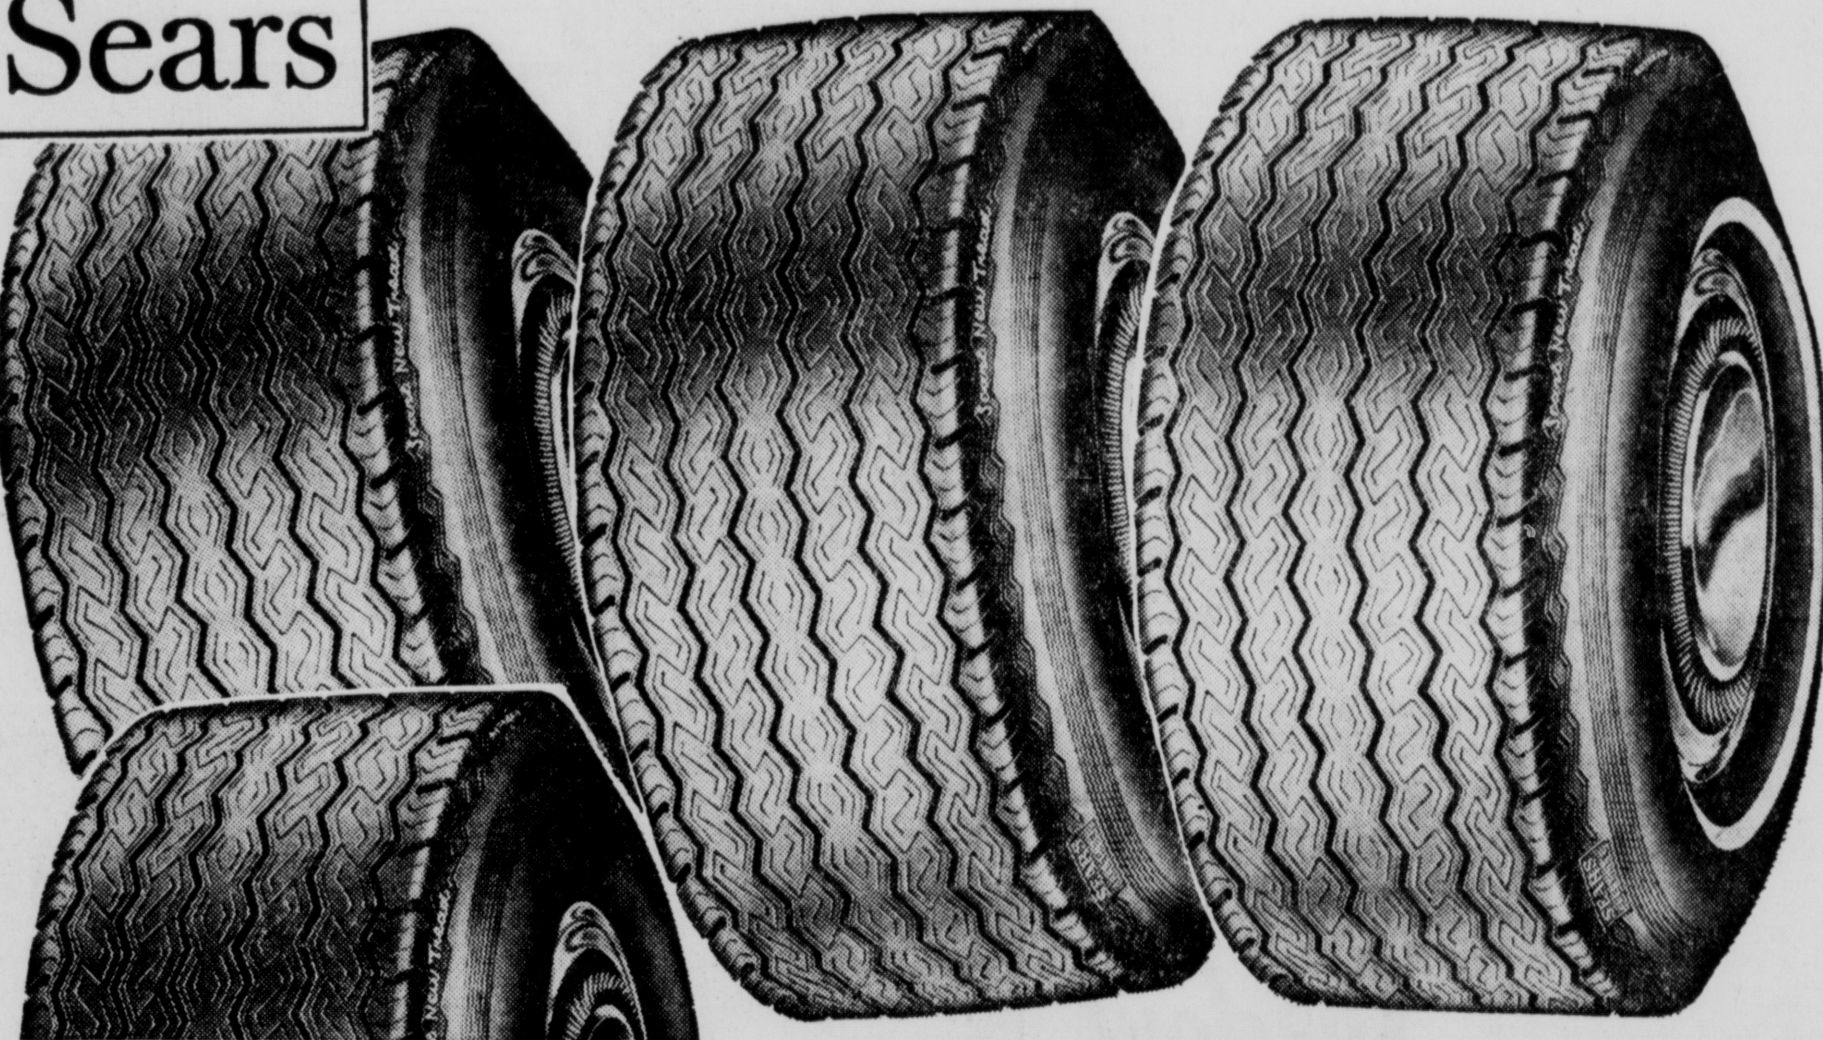

Onteora's third touchdown had its bizarre aspects. The sequence started with Red Hook's John Funk recovering a fumble on his own 39. On the first play, quarterback Dan Theberge faked back to pass, lost control of the ball. In swooped Lemons, who literally snatched the ball out of his hands and thundered the 39 yards up the middle for OCS' final score. A rushing play for the extra point failed.

In his youthful exuberance, Lemons, who was also a whale of a defensive player during the day, slammed the ball into the end zone at the end of his return. This, of course, is an automatic 15-yard penalty under the new rule designed to eliminate "showboating" after touchdowns.

Millbrook Edges New Paltz, 7 to 6

NEW PALTZ with a New Paltz punt. The kick for the extra point by Guy Farrington was good and the winners had their seven points.

New Paltz bounced back hard in the fourth quarter as Joe Williams intercepted a pass on the winners 40-yard line.

Quarterback Jay Ackert, who had a fine afternoon, ran the quarterback option play to the 20. He then teamed up with Bill Schiller in a play-action pass that put the ball on the five-yard line of Millbrook.

With Schiller leading the way through the hole, tailback Harold Anderson blasted across the line for the score.

New Paltz went for two points and the win, scoring the PATs. However, a backfield in motion penalty moved the ball to the eight yard line. Ackert again went to the quarterback option, keeping the ball and moving to the one-foot line, where he was stopped.

"It was a good, hard-hitting game," said New Paltz coach John Ford. "Both teams hit very hard. I thought we were pretty sharp for the opener, but we just couldn't put the points up on the board. I'm proud of the way we bounced back in the final period. We play at Marlboro next Saturday and I'm quite sure we will win," he concluded.

Ford also mentioned that Ackert and Palonis both played outstanding ball for his team.

Alcon Golf To Devlin

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) — Bruce Devlin, 32-year-old Australian golf star, picked up a check for $55,000 today and said: "Well, that's how lucky you can get if you conquer the winds and the rain of Ireland." Devlin won the prize money over Portmarnock's 7,117-yard, par 72 course by conquering the winds from the Irish Sea and the rain that plagued the Alcon "Golfer of the year" Championship. Bob Rosburg of Winthrop, Maine, finished second with a score of 285—seven strokes behind Devlin. He collected $15,000 for that effort. Devlin's seven-stroke advantage was the same as Britain's Tony Jacklin held in winning the U.S. Open earlier this year. Devlin picked up his check with a 72 hole score of 69-71-70-68—278. Lee Trevino, El Paso, Tex., Neil Coles, England, and Peter Oosterhuis, England, all had 287s to win $5,933. Miller Barber of Sherman, Tex., and Billy Casper, the defending champion from Bonita, Calif., each collected $4,100 by finishing at 288.

Knudson Takes Robinson Golf

ROBINSON, Ill. (UPI) — "Lady Luck," chanted jubilant George Knudson after a missed two-foot putt by George Archer on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday handed Knudson the $100,000 Robinson Open PGA Golf Classic on a $20,000 platter. "I just didn't keep my convention," said Archer, who dueling in the same threesome with Knudson for 40 holes under a hot sun on a par 71 course in the Sunday marathon brought on by a rain delay Thursday. "I got a little careless," said Archer. "I had gotten tired and was hoping that it would end soon."

Highland Stops Saugerties in Opener

ON THE MOVE — Highland back Keith Williams (39) looks around to see teammate Bob Mattice put a halt to Saugerties' Fullback Dave Fuller's run in the final period of Saturday's game at Saugerties. Highland won the non-league opener for the 1970 season, 12-0. (Freeman photo by John Kruh).

By TIM SCHUSTER

SAUGERTIES horse fullback Dave Fuller, A 15. Touchdown runs of 80 and 6 yards by Highland's Perry Monroe gave the 12-0 winners all the scoring punch they needed against a game Saugerties High School eleven Saturday.

Monroe was the Saugerties nemesis all afternoon, repeatedly picking up the extra yard or two needed on sheer push, and both arms were bleeding as the big junior fullback left the field with jubilant Highland fans at game's end.

After dueling to a scoreless deadlock at halftime, a booming punt into the Highland end zone late in the third period set the winners up on their own 20.

Monroe followed good blocking on the first play from scrimmage, breaking at least two tackles, and legged it down the right sideline with outdistanced Sawyers in hot pursuit for the first score. A pass attempt for the seventh point failed.

The second score was set up midway through the fourth period when Clyde Napier picked off an errant pass by Saugerties quarterback Dave Smith on the Saugerties 25 yard line and headed for the goal line.

He was brought down on the nine by a spectacular flying tackle in an alert defensive play by Rich Koegel.

Perry's brother Ron Monroe leaped high over would-be tacklers on the next play and fell to earth on the one yard line.

A five-yard penalty against Highland for "too much time" proved just a temporary setback, as the larger Monroe scored from six yards out, literally walking into the end zone off the left tackle. The center hike for the conversion was fumbled and eaten.

Saugerties had two prime opportunities to score, and was very much in the game all the way.

The first opportunity came the second time the Sawyers had their hands on the ball, and was set up by a recovered Highland fumble in the first period.

Saugerties picked up two first downs from about 30 yards out, on successive runs by Ray

Ellenville Upsets Pine Bush, 22 to 6

Defending UCAL champion Pine Bush ran into a surprise here Saturday as Ellenville HS authored a 22-6 upset.

The Bushmen were undefeated in seven games last season.

Ellenville, 3-5 in '69, had to overcome an early lead by visiting Pine Bush to gain the win. After a scoreless first quarter, Pine Bush drew first blood on a three yard spurt by Chuck Walters.

But Ellenville bounced back to tie and go ahead when Bill Collier completed a Blue Devil drive with a five-yard dash to the end zone and then went in for the two-point conversion.

Later in the quarter, Ellenville's impressive quarterback Wayne Gray hit Ed Younger for a 39-yard touchdown play.

Gray's toss to Jack Burger added another deuce and gave the home side a 16-6 lead at the half.

The final score in the contest came after a Pine Bush error as Burger fell on a fumble over the goal line.

Ellenville completely dominated the statistical side of the game registering 412 total yards to 251 for Pine Bush.

Gretel Evens The Cup Series

By JANE M. DOZIER

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Australia's Gretel II won a spectacular America's Cup race Sunday.

But she'll have to win it twice as a result of a protest that was only one feature of a mad, mad, mad day at sea that only Jack London could have written—if he dared.

It was a day that saw: —Intrepid, the American defender, finish within inches of Gretel II after the Australian challenger collided with her at the starting gun within feet of the race committee that will decide the protest.

—Two dramatic rescues at sea. One was of Intrepid's 27-year-old cockpit tactician, Steve Van Dyke, who went ashore by helicopter suffering from a severe reaction when a bee stung his lip while he was sipping a soda before the start.

The other was of seven people in an outboard which capsized in the wash of the boats of the spectator flotilla.

Van Dyke recovered promptly after treatment ashore and the seven spectators were quickly rescued.

—A mine scare. A rusted old globe first identified as a menacing old explosive from World War II was spotted amongst the fleet which immediately took evasive action. Later it turned out to be a fishing buoy.

The protest presumably will be decided today by the race committee of the New York Yacht Club. The committee already has had to handle one protest arising from a near collision in the first race last Tuesday.

Both Intrepid, the NYCC Cup defender, and Gretel II protested, but the committee disallowed it.

Dapper Lindsay Scores

MONTICELLO — Dapper Lindsay, 9-year-old, won the first race of last night's Monticello Raceway. The Al Burton trained and driven trotter owns a lifetime mark of 2:06.3, but has encountered difficulty remaining on gait this season, showing just two triumphs in 19 starts, the fastest in 2:09.4.

In last night's feature, however, the bay gelding looked like his old self. He took charge on the backstretch and easily repelled Ole Hanson's surprisingly strong closer, Bold Dapper Lindsay, in his first pari-mutuel betting race since June, returned $13.60.

In the first race of last night's daily double, 9-year-old Observer saw daylight on the backstretch and eased home a 2:09.4 winner. Albert Hanna steered the chestnut son of Florican to his second straight triumph and his sixth of this campaign. Hanna made good use of the rail, leading most of the way while rebuffing stretch challenges from runners Pleasant Nib and Ignite.

Second choice in the betting, Observer paid $8.20. Front running Tom Tar took advantage of an accident on the paddock turn in the second event, and walked home a six mark. Tom Tar paid $13.20 and the 1.7 double combination returned for the New York bred a handsome $111.80 payoff.

PROCLAMATION

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK: To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster: William B. Martin

GREETING: Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, on Thursday, the 1st day of October, 1970.

We command you, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and proved:

FIRST: That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear thereat.

SECOND: That you bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

THIRD: That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognition or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognitions, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. Louis G. Bruhn, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 10th day of September, in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven and there present.

JOSEPH P. TORRACA, District Attorney of the County of Ulster

In pursuance of the above precept, hereby make Proclamation that a term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail Delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, the 1st day of October, 1970 at 10 o'clock of the forenoon of that day, and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the Jail of said County are required to be then and there present to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognition, or otherwise, are required to appear thereat, and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other officers who may have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at the said Court, or who may have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness are required to return such recognitions, inquisitions and examinations on to the said Court at the opening thereof, at the first day of the sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do those things which to their office pertain.

Controversy Continues On Sinatra Altercation

FALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, responding to charges he threatened a Las Vegas casino operator with vengeance by "the mob," said today, "I don't make threats and I'm not running for re-election."
The singer has maintained silence since the altercation at Caesars Palace Casino Sept. 6 in which Manager Sandford Waterman pulled a gun on him. In an interview with United Press International, Sinatra said, "As for the remarks attributed to me relative to the mob, they're strictly out of a comic strip."
Las Vegas authorities booked Waterman for assault with a deadly weapon, then dropped the charges. Sinatra had been accused of starting a ruckus when he was refused credit at the casino and a request that stakes be raised from $8,000 to $16,000 at the baccarat table.
The singer also was accused

Overseas-Bound Marine Held On Two Charges

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Vietnam-bound Marine stood charged today with the shooting death of one man and the wounding of a second in what police called the aftermath of a tavern fight.
Detectives took Lance Cpl. Royal C. Carmichael, 20, into custody Sunday on charges of murder and first-degree assault and held him for City Court arraignment today.
Detectives accused Carmichael, of Rochester, of shooting Raul Pinto, 22, and Urbano R. Laguna, 31, in a parking lot behind a downtown liquor store Friday night.
Pinto, of Rochester, died in Genesee Hospital Saturday, while Laguna, who gave no permanent address, was listed in good condition.
Detectives said the shootings followed a fight in a downtown tavern in which Pinto allegedly struck Carmichael.
A 22 caliber rifle believed used in the shootings was recovered, they said.
Carmichael was home on leave before reporting for duty in Vietnam, police said.
He gave his address as 68 1/2 Lyndhurst St. Pinto lived at 23 Savannah St.

Dear Abby

Pot Penalties High

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Recently you printed a long list of penalties for being caught with marijuana, and since you made no comment, I assume that you believe these penalties are fair and just.

DISAPPOINTED READER: DEAR ABBY: You are assuming a lot, my friend. I frequently publish letters without adding my comment. And many letters express views contrary to mine. I simply let other have their say. Why not? I don't assume that because someone disagrees with me he is wrong and I am right.

I publish the legal penalties for being caught with marijuana because many are still unaware of what they have to lose. I also happen to feel that the punishment does not fit the "crime."

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people say that "pot" is harmless? Our daughter began using it in January. She went on to mesaline in March, started seeing a psychiatrist in May, and was in a mental hospital in July. She really had no intentions of getting involved with drugs, but her nearest and dearest friend, a girl I liked and trusted, got her started. Now the mother of this girl says, "You know, I've been reading up on marijuana, and it's really not so bad. It's no worse than tobacco or alcohol."

What can I possibly say to her? And to all the people who are spreading this plague with their permissiveness?

DEAR CONCERNED: While he most reliable authorities tell us that marijuana is no more addictive (habit-forming) than tobacco or alcohol, excessive use of pot can be as destructive to some individuals as excessive drinking and smoking is to others. There is no way of knowing who can "handle" such things and who can not. Some people who drink like fishes and smoke like chimneys live to be 90. Others become alcoholics in their twenties and die of lung cancer in their thirties. It's a gamble. And of course the only winners are those who stay out of the game.

DEAR ABBY: Just who says "pot" is harmless? From personal experience I know it can cause ulcers, insomnia, heartache, financial problems, and the desire to commit suicide. Not to all, but to a significant percentage of those who are caught.

I am 22 years old. I threw newspapers all thru junior high. I bagged groceries thru high school, and left for college with a pat on the back from my proud father. After graduation I taught school for one year and was considered to be an outstanding teacher.

While home on vacation, a friend invited me to a "groovy party." He said there would be pot there, and even though I disapproved of pot, I was too weak in character to say no.

The next thing I knew, a policeman's flashlight was shining in my eyes. I was sitting on the same blanket with a bag of pot beside me. Now, 10 days later, I have lost everything: my fiancée, my opportunity for Coast Guard O.C.S. (I was to leave in two weeks!)

After a decade of pulling myself up by my bootstraps, career opportunities are now limited. It saps my desire to live.

My "friend" consoles me by saying that the law is outdated and will be changed "soon," and any society that punishes for such a thing is "sick." This all may be true, but I am the felon and I have to pay the price. Society, be it sick or well, has certain laws which should be obeyed until they are changed.

Now, I ask myself, "What was I doing there?" I am supposed to be a mature and intelligent person. I was absolutely stupid!

If you publish this, Abby, tempted to do what I did will read it and remember it. Between the lines can also be read the sorrow I have caused myself and my family.

SUPPOSEDLY MATURE

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to be a Mature and Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You are tempted to flit from one thing to another and go with one or more persons. Don't be tempted. Make this a good day by utilizing your ability to engage in whatever cultural pursuits are present for you as this new week opens. Be sure to engage in whatever spiritual subjects are available to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you don't schedule your hours more intelligently, you are likely to either get little done or do it very badly. Be careful with reports. Your correspondence should be handled with precision.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may find it a bit difficult to get started on plans you made yesterday, but after brief delay all works like a charm. Take advice from one who has been very successful. Opening a new bank account is wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Showing more interest in the social can bring fine benefits now. Take advantage of all opportunities. Taking treatments to improve your charm is wise. Make a better impression on others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make it a point to assist those who are less fortunate than yourself. Show that you are understanding. Experts can help you with problems you now have. Stop crying over spilt milk.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Contacting persons you have not seen in a long time will show you still value the friendships. Make use of that magnanimity you now have. Evening is particularly fine to join old friends at party.

VIRGO (Aug. 2 to Sept. 22) Get busy and do whatever will improve your image with the public in general. Invest in those gadgets that will make your job easier and better at the same time. Stop being so old-fashioned. Be clever.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Forecast for your sign for October: You have many fine ideas that her is now ready. For a copy will benefit your financial status, provided you get all the necessary. That trip Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood should be planned now without wood, Calif. 90028.

further delay. Be prepared for possible emergencies.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You know exactly how to handle those obligations today. Find a way to have a happier relationship with loved one. Listening to radio in the evening could prove quite educational.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Making better arrangements to prove to partners that you like the relationship is wise right now. The future can be more lucrative and fascinating then. Forget shop talk in the evening. Enjoy family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Although you may have much work in front of you, it can be done with precision because of the favorable position of the planets. Meet expectations of others and gain their approval. Take it easy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you get your work done early, you can then get out with congenials for a delightful time. You are highly gregarious, in typical Aquarian style, and can make big headway socially. Conversation is one of your best attributes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Doing those things that bring harmony within the home is wise now. Have the peace of mind you want. Get rid of what is no longer needed such as old furniture, etc. Business matters can go well today.

IF YOU CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very active young people, both mentally and physically, who will require more rest than the usual. Your child will need to sleep alone early in life so that others will not encroach on the extreme sensitivity here. Any profession that requires ingenuity, inventiveness, imagination, quick and logical thinking is fine. College is important in this life.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! If you child is born today, he or she will be one of those very active young people, both mentally and physically, who will require more rest than the usual. Your child will need to sleep alone early in life so that others will not encroach on the extreme sensitivity here. Opening Lead—♦ 3

Jim: "Alan Truscott's book, 'Practical Bridge,' concerns itself mostly with mistakes in bidding and play. Alan's contention is that brilliance is fine but that the way to win is to avoid mistakes."

Oswald: "Here is a rather simple hand from his book. Simple in that there is no real problem in the play. Complicated in that many declarers would go wrong at the very first trick."

Jim: "The winning play is to let East hold the first diamond trick. If East does not lead the ace and another trump, South will be able to ruff a diamond in dummy and wind up losing one diamond, one spade and one club. If East does play ace and another trump, South proceeds to draw West's last trump and to lead the queen of clubs. If East takes his king, South will be able to discard from his remaining low diamond on the jack of clubs."

Oswald: "Alan points out that a wily East might let the queen of clubs hold. In that case declarer would lose the contract if he tried a second club finesse. Of course, a smart declarer wouldn't fall for this. The fact that a finesse works the first time does not mean that it will work the second time and declarer should be happy to make his game."

Jim: "If South wins the first diamond and tries the club finesse immediately, East must take his king and lead a club back. If South wins the diamond back, East must play ace and one spade. Good defense in both cases but made possible by South's error at trick one."

One of the most melancholy experiences of the fall season: Seeing the dread of winter in the eyes of an old bum as he shuffles along through the carpet of autumn leaves.

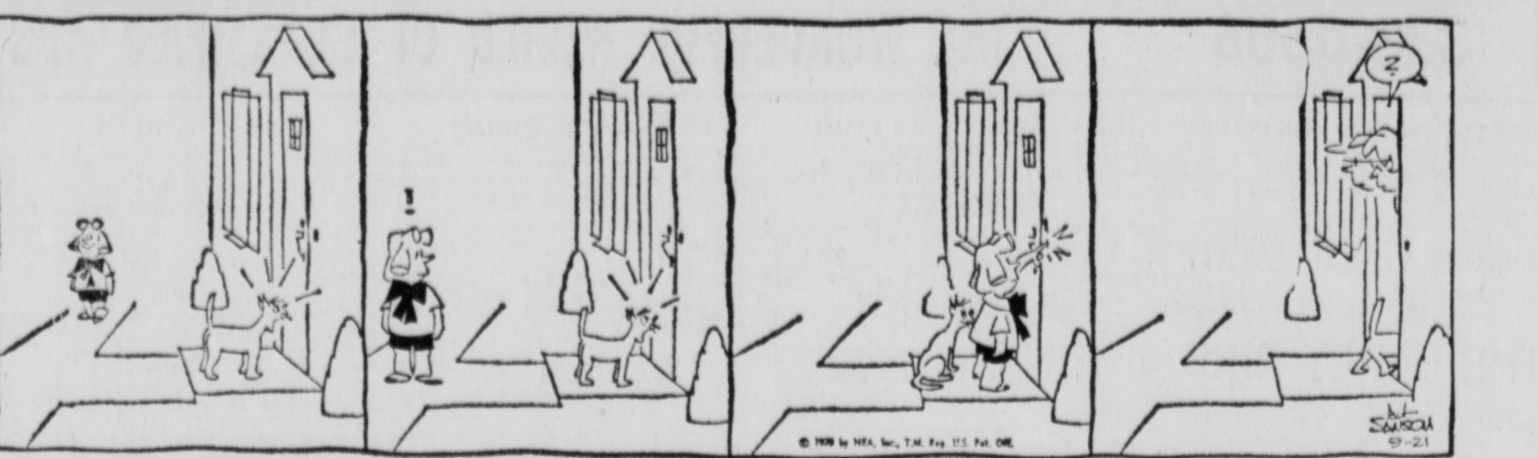

Never bother a colleague wearing a preoccupied look. He's either busy or he has a raspberry jam seed under his denture.

Youth being youth, now as always, you're apt to find a nip in the air when he goes to football games this fall.

Even the most nonathletic play squash on rush-hour buses. Making homemade "bread" will get you a visit from the federal fuzz, says a hippie of our acquaintance.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DRINKING DAD: (Q.) I believe my father is an alcoholic. He comes home drunk most of the time. He is going with a woman, too. And he neglects my mother and me.

We both have muscular dystrophy. He is supposed to put me to bed but sometimes he doesn't come in and mother has to. The doctor says she isn't well enough to.

My father didn't get to the hospital until a few minutes before my brother died. He had muscular dystrophy, too. He makes $300 a week but puts only $150 in the checking account.

I am 18 and graduated with honors. He didn't tell me he was proud of me. On my birthday he stayed out all night. I want to help him, but don't know what to do.—Ill and Unhappy in Maine.

(A.) To see those we love suffer is one of the greatest of torments. Some just don't have the strength for it. I believe that is your father's trouble.

He needs more strength, spiritual as well as physical, and he is hunting for it. He hunts in the wrong places but, remember, he hunts.

Love him while he is away, and love him when he is at home. Let him know you do. That is the biggest help you can give him.

Urging him to go to a doctor for help. And to your minister, or priest, or rabbi. I am also sending you the name and address of an organization in your community that may be able to help him. Urge him to go there.

EYE APPEAL: (Q.) I do so want more appealing eyes. When is a girl old enough to wear shadow and liner?—Waiting in Hobbs, N.M.

(A.) It's smarter to wait until you're in high school for eye make up. Even then, you shouldn't overdo it.

Surprises, Disappointments

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS and ABC launched a sextet of new entertainment programs over the weekend. They included some nice surprises and some disappointments.

CBS, with five new shows, seems to have something good in at least three: "The Tim Conway Comedy Hour" on Sunday night and two situation comedies, "Arnie" and "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on Saturday.

Conway's feeling for way-out humor carried the program beyond the half-way point. He opened with a man who hummed instead of a band, and he had a single chorus girl doing ornate dance routines. His best sketch had him playing a Japanese war lord trying to enlist pilots for Kamikaze service. The program fell apart at the end with a long, messy sketch about a drunken private eye.

Herschel Bernardi plays a balding, sentimental working man in "Arnie." In the first episode, he was suddenly moved into top management of his company. Bernardi is attractive and so are members of his show's family. The humor is quiet, for the most part.

Mary Tyler Moore plays a frankly 30 career girl in her program. The first episode had her moving into a kooky job and a crazy apartment house. As the characters get sorted out, it promises to be a bright, amusing 30 minutes.

The two series that premiered Friday night may give CBS some headaches.

"The Interns" is a series of stories draped around an assortment of young doctors, each with his own hangups. Broderick Crawford plays the gruff senior physician. The first program had a number of sub plots and seemed to be straining for significance and relevance. It was not particularly relevant, and, worse, it was not very entertaining.

"Headmaster," bringing Andy Griffith back to weekly television, is a curious mixture of lecture, morality tale and incidental comedy. Griffith plays the head of a school and in the initial show is confronted with a group of students experimenting with pills. Griffith did not appear to have much to say about drug use except that it is bad. The attempt to inject a problem of serious dimensions into a situation comedy—with the comedy very peripheral—resulted in an awkward half hour.

ABC's first premiere of the season, on Sunday night, was "The Young Rebels," which during the next 13 weeks will be showing how three smart young people in Chester, Pa., won the Revolutionary War without much help. The program takes liberties with history and it may very well annoy our British cousins—the Red Coats are not

Jumbo Jets—Wingtips Called Hazards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has discovered that the new jumbo jets are creating tornado-like winds in flight tests now being conducted in the sky capable of tearing apart light aircraft and hurling other jetliners toward the ground.

The tests showed, for example, that the swirling winds trail behind the huge planes for many miles and do not readily dissipate at high altitudes. They off the wings of the 747s and C5As disclosed, too, that the invisible turbulence can endanger passenger airliners as well as small planes.

Because of the winds—called wake turbulence or wingtip vortices—the FAA has ordered a five-mile spacing at all times between the giant jets and aircraft weighing less than 300,000 pounds.

There have been no cases reported of planes crashing after flying into the turbulence generated by the jumbo jets.

However, records compiled by the National Transportation Safety Board from 1964 through 1969 reveal 98 cases where wake turbulence generated by small jetliners was a cause or contributing factor in crashes of light aircraft.

These crashes caused 20 deaths and 54 serious injuries.

Wingtip vortices have been a recognized phenomenon for years. All planes cause them to some degree. But, said Richard Sliff, deputy director of the FAA's flight standards service, "We didn't know the extent of the turbulence until we undertook this testing program. We were fully aware of wake turbulence but we didn't know its intensity."

The tests showed that small aircraft which penetrate the wingtip vortices within three miles of the giant aircraft can be forced into a sudden roll of 75 degrees.

"In other words," said the FAA's William M. Flener, director of air traffic service, "what we're saying is that under certain circumstances a light aircraft would break up structurally."

However, the FAA's chief of regulation and procedures, Robert Martin, said he does not believe that a plane flying into a powerful vortex would break up. But he does foresee a danger of crashing.

The FAA measures the 747's vortex strength as 7,700 feet squared per second and the C5A's as 7,260 feet squared per second. Agency officials translate this to wind speeds of 80 to 90 miles per hour.

The power of these vortices is nearly double that of the 707 jetliner which is listed in Safety Board records as the generator of crash-causing turbulence in six cases in a three-year period.

The vortex of the planned SST (supersonic transport) is estimated by the FAA at 11,200 feet squared per second—half again more powerful than that of the 747s.

Cambodians Make New Try for 4,000

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian reinforcements poured north today in an effort to break a week-old Communist entrapment of 4,000 government soldiers at Tang Kauk. At the same time a new Communist offensive was reported under way to the south.

Military sources said at least a part of the estimated 5,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese occupying the mountainous terrain around the Kirirong Plateau, 56 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, had moved into the lowlands.

In South Vietnam, U.S. military sources said 11 American soldiers were killed and 11 were wounded Sunday when Communist gunners shot down a U.S. helicopter near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam and then fired mortar shells at a rescue force.

The UH1 Huey helicopter preparing to drop a six-man Ranger team on a reconnaissance patrol was hit six miles west of the Allied base at Gio Linh and one-half miles south of the DMZ. It crashed and was destroyed, killing nine of the GIs aboard and wounding one, the sources said.

A force of the U. S. 5th Mechanized Division was helicoptered into the area to attempt a rescue mission, but its chopper was hit with mortar fire. Two more GIs were killed and 10 others wounded.

Kirirom has seen some of the heaviest fighting of the Cambodian war. It is situated near Highway 4, Phnom Penh's land link with the deep water port at Kompong Som. Military officers speculated the Viet Cong would attempt to cut Highway 4 and force the Cambodian high command to turn its attention away from the trapped Cambodian battalions to the north.

Meanwhile, military officers with the nine-battalion task force encircled near Tang Kauk said the Cambodian high command has drawn up plans for a new offensive. It would be aimed at Tang Kauk, currently occupied by an estimated North Vietnamese regiment of about 2,400 men, according to military officers.

Brig. Gen. Neak Sam, commander of the task force, told UPI Sunday he was facing 4,600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported today that 800 more Americans were redeployed from Vietnam in the week ending Sept. 17 and that 395,500 men were now stationed in the war zone. It was the lowest troop strength figure since Jan. 7, 1967, when 395,400 men were here, records showed.

Another 10,870 Americans will have to be removed by Oct. 15 to meet President Nixon's "Phase Four" withdrawal program of 50,000 U.S. troops.

Two U. S. Marine units numbering 1,400 men departed Da Nang today bound for the United States. They were the 1st Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, and companies "C" and "D" of the 1st Reconnaissance Battalion, spokesmen said.

CHECKING ARMORY DAMAGE (UPI Telephoto)

Bay State Armory Gutted, Ransacked

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP) — Investigators were combing the fire-blackened interior of a National Guard Armory here Sunday after pre-dawn raiders ransacked files and confidential documents and left behind a smoky blaze that burned out a supply room.

The intruders escaped with 400 rounds of M-1 rifle ammunition, a one-ton Army pickup truck, the contents of several personnel files and some classified documents.

FBI agents and military intelligence officers who were called into the investigation declined to comment on any clues they had found.

Capt. James O'Day, company commander of Co. A of the 101st Engineers of the Massachusetts National Guard, said a metal can found in the building smelled of gasoline.

He said the damage to the gutted supply room indicated that "something along the lines of a Molotov cocktail was in there." A second fire had started in the adjoining rifle range but failed to spread.

The pickup truck was found abandoned hours later in Salisbury, about five miles north of here.

The intruders tampered with a vault containing weapons next to the supply room, but National Guard personnel were unable to determine if the vault had been opened. With the lock damaged they were unable to open the safe. An expert was called to open the vault and was expected to arrive Monday.

Capt. O'Day said the gutted supply room contained blankets, tools, uniforms, and other supplies.

Plus 50¢ handling and delivery

Entire portrait photographed in Living Color by Jack B. Nimble, Inc. Reg. U.S. Trademark

- Choose from actual finished portraits—not proofs.
- Extra prints available at reasonable prices. No obligation to buy.
- Groups taken at 99¢ per child.
- Age limit: 5 weeks to 12 years.
- Limit: one per child—two per family.

Your money back if this isn't the most lifelike portrait of your child ever. Not just an old-fashioned tinted or colored picture, but "Living Color"! The complete portrait comes alive—captured in amazing full-color realism with Eastman Professional Ektacolor film.

Kenmore Dishwashers have Scour Power to Remove Even "Dried On" Food Scraps

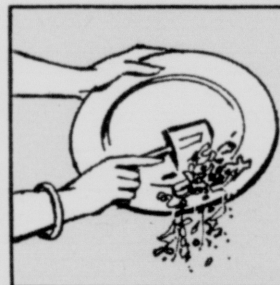

HERE'S PROOF OF KENMORE CLEANING PERFORMANCE . . .

"We let spaghetti, mashed potatoes, milk, jelly, peanut butter, catsup, mustard, coffee, eggs, molasses, and lipstick dry on dishes for 12 hours . . . and the Kenmore dishwasher 'scoured' them clean."

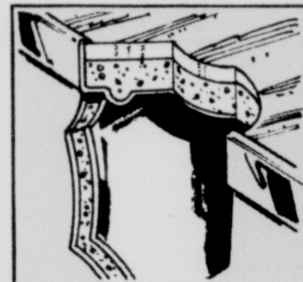

With a Kenmore, Once-a-day Washing Does it!

Kenmore lets you do a whole day's accumulation for 4 or 5 people all at once. Saves you money, time and effort. It's easy!

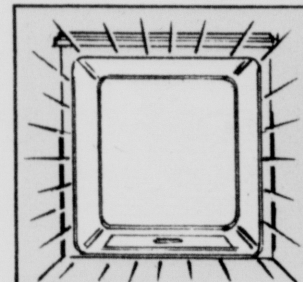

No Pre-rinsing Ever With a Kenmore Dishwasher

Simply scrape away large food scraps. Load all soiled dishes into a Kenmore. No pre-set loading pattern to follow either!

Kenmore Dishwashers Are Sound- Conditioned

For extra-quiet operation, Kenmore dishwashers are sound-proof insulated. Helps retain heat inside, keeps surfaces cool to your touch.

White Porcelain- on-Steel Tub is Durable, Lasting

Porcelain interior won't retain food odors. Porcelain-finished tub washes clean everytime you use your dishwasher.

Front Load Portables

- Easy kitchen faucet hook-up. Use it as a portable now, have it built-in later!
- Makes dishwashing an easy, once-a-day chore.
- In sparkling white finish that is so easy to keep clean.
